No Appreciable Clarification of Political Atmosphere Evident.

OHIO VOTES THIS WEEK
Massachusetts and New Jersey Will Also Cast Ballots.

(Special to The Lima News from the Washington Star)
WASHINGTON. — The delegates to both the Chicago and San Francisco conventions are now being elected almost daily, there is not any appreciable clarification of the political atmosphere. There is no indication that in either convention will there be a candidate for the presidency with a commanding lead, and that in neither convention will there be one with enough votes to assure his nomination, is accepted as a foregone conclusion.

The result is that practical politicians are beginning to fear dark horses. Dispatches to The Star from its political correspondents show that this condition of "casting about" is not confined to either party or to any geographical section. Although a lot of noise is being made by the numerous candidates and their supporters, it is a fact of big significance that the "big guns" in both parties, as a rule, are maintaining a masterful silence.

New York's big delegation in the Chicago convention will be nominally for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, without any expectation that he will be the convention's choice. The men who will determine New York's choice at Chicago, after Dr. Butler has been complimented, are not saying who they are for. It may be that they do not know, but there is well grounded suspicion that the republican leaders in New York are in close communion with republican leaders in other states with big delegations, and that they are planning at the psychological moment to spring a surprise on the convention.

The situation in Pennsylvania is very similar to that in New York. The republican delegation, while it will be uninstructed, will be very friendly to Gov. Sproul, and undoubtedly will vote for him solidly on the initial ballots. But it is not a last-ditch Sproul delegation by any manner of means, and when the show-down comes it is expected to be guided by the wishes and judgment of Senator Boise Penrose.

A peculiarity of the Pennsylvania situation is that the only candidate entered for the presidential preference is one Edwin Randolph Wood of Philadelphia. As a number of candidates for delegate to the Chicago convention have pledged themselves to vote for the popular choice as indicated by the primary preference vote, they may find themselves tied up to the Philadelphia man, regardless of their personal desires or the desires of the party chiefs.

It has been a popular belief for a good many weeks that Wood and Lowden were the leading contenders for the republican nomination, but conviction now is gaining headway that neither will be able to land the prize at Chicago. In a way this conviction is helping other aspirants for the republican nomination, notably Senator Harding, of Ohio, in "conservative circles and Senator Johnson, of California, among "progressive." In other words, much of the conservative strength that was behind the Lowden boom seems disposed to shift to Harding as the more likely candidate and Senator Johnson is unmistakably falling heir to a great deal of the progressive sentiment upon which the Wood campaign has been predicated.

But conviction that neither Wood nor Lowden can be brought under the wire a winner is more notably the inspiration for "dark horse talk." A dispatch to The Star from Tacoma, for example, says republican party workers in Washington state are talking strongly of Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, as a likely presidential candidate. The Washington delegation will be instructed for Senator Pendergast as the state's favorite son, but he is not expected to get within even looking distance of the nomination. Gen. Wood is a strong second choice, with about 30 per cent of the delegates favorable to Hoover. But the practical politicians, regarding Pendergast as out of the equation and Wood unlikely to win, think Hays would make a first-rate candidate.

The opportunists in both parties, who have been keeping their eyes peeled for the band wagon before forming connexions with candidates, didn't get much satisfaction out of the primaries and state conventions held during the week just ended. If anything, their confusion is worse confounded. The really optimistic opportunists are hopeful of getting more enlightenment out of the primaries the coming week in Ohio, Massachusetts and New Jersey; but the result in Ohio, unless there is an upset, has been pretty well discounted, and in neither Massachusetts nor New Jersey is there anything like a decisive contest.

The most noteworthy phase of the situation is the increased frequency with which is heard expression of belief that Woodrow Wilson is likely

STRIKERS DEFY U. S. THREATS

Switchmen Declare They Will Hold Out Against Lockout.

MANUFACTURERS WORRIED

Say Situation Is Serious—Industries Face Distress.

CHICAGO. — Defying government prosecution "outlaw" striking switchmen prepared Saturday night to hold out against lockouts by railroad owners by an indefinite continuation of the strike. Leaders said the men will not abandon the strike until their organization is assured recognition by the railroad labor board.

Urging speedy action by the board, John M. Glenn, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association Saturday night wired Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, that the situation was "serious."

"Manufacturing plants in Illinois will be compelled to close down and untold distress will follow unless railroads can switch cars," Glenn wired. "Please take the cover off if you can and renew your effort to get the board away from Washington atmosphere. Our situation is very serious and we need the help of the strong arm of the government."

Forty-two Chicago strike leaders, including John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, the original "outlaw" union, were arranged in federal court here Saturday. Their hearing was set for May 3. Grunau stated he would make no effort to bring about a settlement.

Despite the fact that many strikers have returned to work, merchants in the middle west and in states further west are losing millions of dollars because of hampered switching facilities. In many places the lack of sufficient switching crews is holding up shipments and causing considerable loss.

Higher meat prices are to continue, according to a statement issued Saturday night by Armour and Company, packers. "A drastic shortage of cars in which to ship meat is having an effect on prices," the statement said.

AGREEMENT WITH MINERS NEAR

Agree to Modify Demands on Wages and Hours.

NEW YORK.—Agreement on a new contract, covering wages and working conditions for miners in the anthracite coal fields, was in sight Saturday night, following modification of the union's demands, members of the joint state committee of miners and operators in session here stated.

The miners agreed to modify their demands on both wages and hours of work.

In place of a flat increase of 60 per cent in contract rates and a $2 a day raise for day men, the union leaders agreed to increases of 27 per cent. This is the amount which was awarded miners in the bituminous fields by the commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate the coal industry following the strike of bituminous workers last autumn.

The miners also agreed to accept an eight-hour day for all classes of inside and outside labor and monthly men with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays, in place of their original demand for a six-hour day.

The mine operators asked a recess to consider the miners' substitute requests and the conference adjourned until Monday.

DIDN'T KILL GIRL, SUSPECT SAYS

Denies He Was Murderer of Olive Thompson, 16, of Warren.

WARREN.—Denial that he had anything to do with the killing of Olive Thompson, 16-year-old school girl, was made here Saturday by a suspect held in connection with her death.

"I did not kill her and I don't know what caused her death," he told police, after a lengthy grilling. Death was caused by a bullet wound in the spine, police said. The girl's body was found by a brother when he came home from school. A light rifle was found in the room, a short distance from the body. Officers took the suspect to the county morgue where he was shown the body in the hope that he would break down. But he gazed at the body without showing emotion.

DAYTON STORE ROBBED

DAYTON.—Robbery of the When Store of silk dresses and other finery valued at more than $2,000 lead police here to believe the job is the work of professionals who have been operating in Ohio cities. Valuable clues were obtained in the form of finger prints which have been photographed and preserved.

Leads Democrats

Homer S. Cummings

Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has been selected to preside as temporary chairman of the national convention at San Francisco, June 28. He will deliver the keynote address which will enunciate the party policies in the forthcoming campaign.

RUHR SETTLEMENT LIKELY TODAY

Premier Lloyd George and Marshal Foch Near Agreement.

SAN REMO. — As a result of Friday night's conversation between Premier Lloyd George and Marshal Foch, the Ruhr controversy will be settled Sunday, it was announced Saturday night.

Settlement of the Italian-Jugo-Slav territory controversy in the Adriatic on the basis of President Wilson's compromise also was forecast here Saturday.

The DeMatiation delegation said it had authoritative information that the council of premiers had agreed on that plan. The DeMatiations made no effort to conceal their displeasure.

Following the sitting of the morning session, it was said, it was due to the Jugo-Slavs. The President Wilson compromise was credited in Italian circles, where it was said, however, that there might be some changes.

The premiers conferred informally for more than four hours Saturday morning. The meeting was a satisfactory session for all of them were smiling when the meeting was over.

Complete unity in the allied attitude toward Germany was reported to have been agreed upon.

MONTANA STRONG FOR JOHNSON

California Senator Leads General Wood By 5,485 Votes.

HELENA, Mont.—Exceeding early returns the total vote cast for all other Republican presidential candidates, Senator Hiram Johnson Saturday night had won Saturday's Montana primaries.

Totals from 240 precincts out of 1500 in the state showed:

Johnson 7,698; Wood 2,213; Hoover 1,592; Lowden 1,493; Harding 245.

No Democratic candidate filed. Many voters expressed their preferences by writing in the names of President Wilson, Champ Clark, Attorney General Palmer, William G. McAdoo and Governor Edwards of New Jersey.

The Republican state convention will deliver the delegation of eight from Montana to Johnson, returns indicated, but the Democratic convention, with no choice expressed, will send an uninstructed delegation to San Francisco.

DRUG STUDENTS AT O. N. U. WILL HOLD EXHIBIT FOR TWO DAYS

SKELETON OF AN INFANT IS UNEARTHED AT KENTON

KENTON.—Workmen excavating for a cellar in a residence here Saturday unearthed the skeleton of an infant. Coroner Hall immediately started an investigation. It is the opinion of the coroner that the baby had been dead for several months.

LITTLE INTEREST IN PRIMARY

Small Vote Tuesday Is Expected by Party Leaders.

CITY AND COUNTY BONDS UP

Many Names to Be Balloted on by Local Electors.

Ohio voters, Tuesday, will by ballot express their preference for presidential candidates, select delegates to state and national party conventions and in many instances decide the fate of municipal, county and township bonds.

Not since the presidential preference law became operative, party leaders say, has so little interest in a primary campaign been manifest. That it presages a comparative small vote is the general opinion.

The electorate of Lima will have submitted three municipal and one county bond issues totaling in all $621,000. City officials and others conversant with their purposes contend the passage of these bonds is vital to the best interests of the city but only within the last six or eight days has any concerted effort been made to insure their adoption.

The municipal bond issues proposed are as follows: $133,000 for a retaining wall along the Ottawa river, declared by Mayor Burkhardt to be necessary as a protection for the city against damage claims and required under orders from the state board of health; $123,000 bridge bonds for new bridges at Elm and North-sts., also held necessary, old structures having been condemned; and $130,000 power plant bonds for enlarging the electric plant at the waterworks pumping station.

A separate issue of $165,000 county bridge bonds to provide for three bridges over the Ottawa river within the city but on intercounty roads will be voted on a separate ballot and if authorized would be provided for out of county tax levies.

Of the three city issues, the first two, retaining wall and bridge bonds, have been twice before submitted to vote and defeated by small margins. Only against the third has any serious objection been raised. The proposed county bond issues, "to pay the cost and expense of enlarging the electric plant at the Lima waterworks pumping station and for the purpose of installing all equipment machinery and appliances necessary for furnishing of light and power to the city of Lima, O., and the inhabitants thereof."

It is admittedly aimed as a club to be used by the city in dealings with the Ohio Electric railway over the street lighting franchise.

Each voter in the city Tuesday will be handed four ballots varying from a few inches to one yard in length. On one he will vote his choice of candidates for president and vice-president, on another delegates to state and national conventions, the third will contain the municipal bond issues and on the fourth, the proposed county bond issues.

Return of the vote in the state may show contradictory results under the present system of balloting such as lead to the great political schism in 1912. For example by reason of separate ballots, the majority preference vote might favor Wood and the entire slate of delegates pledged to Harding be elected or vice versa.

Primary ballots were received from the printer Friday by the Allen Board of Elections and at once bundled by precincts and sealed for distribution Monday. Polling places will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. that day to permit registration of transfers.

Only one name appears on the Democratic presidential preference ballot. James M. Cox for president and no candidates for vice-president. On the Republican ballot are the names of Leonard Wood and Warren G. Harding for president, and Hiram Johnson, Webster and Edmund Washington as candidates for vice-president.

Each party will elect four delegates and four alternates from the state at large and two delegates and two alternates from this district to the national conventions.

No contest is shown on the Democratic ballot for delegates at large. The candidates are: James E. Campbell, Judson Harmon, Edmond H. Moore and Alice Fomerout, all pledged to Cox as first choice, and James E. Campbell, second, the latter a mere formality required under

NEARER BEER IS NEAR IN N. Y.

Governor Smith Expected to Sign Bill for 2.75 Per Cent Boozee.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Governor Smith Saturday night was expected to sign the Walker-Gillett bill, passed by both houses of the legislature, which permits the manufacture and sale of beer with a 2.75 per cent alcoholic content.

Under the bill, sale of beer containing this amount will be permitted in cities of the first and second class. Local option on the question in smaller cities and units is provided for.

The measure limits sale of liquor to hotels, restaurants and from producers direct to consumer.

The bill cannot have any force until the end of war-time prohibition and its effectiveness will then depend upon the supreme court's decision on state's jurisdiction under the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution.

Under an emergency message from Governor Smith just before midnight, the senate passed the necessary bills to re-establish the department of excise. It will be passed by the lower under an emergency message.

VILLA JOINS REBELS IN MEXICAN ROW

TALLEST MAN IN THE WORLD

John van Albert, of Amsterdam, Holland, fifteen-year-old youth, who recently arrived in New York, is the tallest person in the world. He is nine feet five inches tall and his arms, legs and body are in normal proportion with his height.

REPUBLICAN RACE REVOKES CHARTERS IS TIGHTENED

Primaries Place Three Leading Candidates on Even Terms.

NEW YORK.—The race for the republican presidential nomination has tightened up until the three candidates now leading are practically on even terms.

The standing to date on the basis of instructed delegates is:

Major General Leonard Wood 78; Governor Frank O. Lowden 73; Senator Hiram Johnson 61.

Lowden made the greatest gain this week, receiving 26 instructed delegates from the Iowa state convention. Johnson was next with 14 delegates instructed in the Nebraska primary and eight in the Montana primary.

Wood got two instructed delegates from Nebraska while the six selected at the Delaware convention were regarded as certain for Wood.

Meanwhile, the Democratic situation has shown no indication of becoming clarified. Instructed delegates at present are distributed as follows:

Herbert Hoover 23; Senator Robert Owen 20; Senator Gilbert Hitchcock 16; William Johnston Bryan 10; James W. Gerard 10.

No Democratic delegates were instructed this week. The 20 picked in the Kansas convention are pledged for McAdoo by his followers, while Michigan delegates selected at a state convention, probably will cast a ballot first for Cleveland.

During the coming week, the Republicans will pick 14 and the Democrats 112 delegates. This is the schedule.

Tuesday—New Jersey primaries (28 Republican and 25 Democratic delegates); Ohio primaries (18 Republican and 45 Democratic delegates); Massachusetts primaries (25 Republican and 34 Democratic delegates); Washington state convention (14 Republican delegates); Idaho state convention (12 Republican delegates).

Wednesday—state convention Arkansas (16 Republican delegates).

In New Jersey, Wood and Johnson organizations concluded a bitter fight Saturday to win that state's endorsement. Wood will oppose a favorite son in both Ohio and Massachusetts; Senator Warren Harding in the latter. Washington is expected to instruct for Senator Miles Pendergast and Idaho for Senator William Borah. Both are regarded as friends to Johnson. Lowden's friends claim Arkansas for him.

Governor James Cox is expected to carry Ohio and Edwards to win in New Jersey, while sentiment for McAdoo is said to be strong in Massachusetts.

CONFESSES $6 THEFT

KENTON.—For confessing to the theft of six dollars from a savings bank belonging to a daughter of William Kelley, his employer, Palmer V. Carroll was fined $100 and given a sixty day jail sentence by Mayor Stevenson in city court here Saturday.

FIGHTING FORCES ARE ASSEMBLING

Many Federal Soldiers Expected to Desert Carranza Regime.

PREPARE FOR BIG DRIVE

General Alvarado Troops Make Ready to Enter Chihuahua.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mex. —With civil war reported in progress in the amplexo oil region and Sonora rebels invading Sinaloa state to the south of here, the arrival of Obregon is expected to mark the opening of a strenuous campaign that his adherents predict will end in overthrow of the Mexico City government.

WASHINGTON. — Francisco Villa, rebel chief, has definitely joined the Obregon revolt, to overthrow President Carranza despite the fact that General Obregon is known as the "only man who ever defeated Villa," according to announcement Saturday night at the headquarters of General Alvarado, representative of the revolution.

News of the Mexican revolution available in Washington was one-sided, practically all favoring the rebels as the Mexican embassy had no advices up to a late hour and the dispatches coming in thru American sources were few and meager.

Advices received Saturday by Alvarado from Chihuahua that Villa had sent advices to Governor De La Huerta of Sonora that he would cooperate with the revolutionists against the Mexican federal troops in Chihuahua. Villa told De La Huerta, it was said, that he was about to launch a campaign against the federal forces in Chihuahua that would wholly engage their attention.

He declared that the federate would not be allowed to leave Chihuahua to invade Sonora.

Villa expects that within the next two weeks at least half of the Carranza troops now in Chihuahua and Durango will abandon the government and go over to him, according to a report received in Washington Saturday thru official government channels that soldiers of the 43rd federal battalion at La Cruz, Chihuahua, rebelled last Wednesday. Alvarado said Saturday night that, in reality, a much larger body of troops mutinied and passed over to Villa.

Alvarado said Villa is fully prepared for his Chihuahua drive in support of the Obregon revolt. In his foray several months ago in Coahuila, the home state of President Carranza, Villa confiscated a large amount of ammunition that Carranza had secretly stored at Kuszquiz, according to Alvarado.

It is the fear of this precarious situation that has led President Carranza to dispatch his son-in-law, General Candido Aguilar, former governor of Vera Cruz, to Chihuahua City to assume command of all troops in the northern zone, which mission Carranza feared to entrust to either of his three remaining generals — Gonzales, Murguia and Diagon, Alvarado continued.

Alvarado said the states of Sonora and Sinaloa are completely under the military control of the state governments with the single exception of a small territory in the southern part of Sinaloa, including the port of Mazatlan, which General Flores of the Sonora forces is endeavoring to take without bloodshed. The state of Nayarit is under complete control of the Sonora forces, while the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guerrero to the south and east, are dominated by former federal forces under competent military commanders, who have declared for the revolution. In these states there remains not a single federal command of any importance.

THREE CAR LOADS OF COAL ARRIVE AFTER ORDERS FROM STATE

Three car loads of coal were delivered to Mayor Burkhardt Saturday as part of the consignment from the state utilities commission to relieve the fuel shortage. These in turn were turned over to local dealers where the needs appeared. Serving of first consideration, the mayor said, is domestic calls for coal fluctuate as the weather changes, Mayor Burkhardt said, but the worst of the coal situation is believed over.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF PILGRIM FATHER'S SAILING

LONDON. — The Congregational Union of England and Wales has appointed committees and has plans for advanced for a celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers for America, starting September 3.

A series of celebrations is planned the first to be a reception by the Lord Mayor of Plymouth in Guildhall, Plymouth. A three-day programme is planned there and on September 7 the tercentenary will be observed in many other English towns.

DRY CRUSADER IS WELCOMED HOME

"Fussyfoot" Johnson Arrives in Westerville—Lost Eye.

WESTERVILLE.—Westerville, home of the Anti-Saloon League, turned out en masse here Saturday night to do honor to William Eugene ("Fussyfoot") Johnson, the dry crusader who lost an eye in England while fighting for the "cause."

The little station was jammed with the town folk. A band struck up "Hail to the Chief." Bowing and smiling, Johnson passed thru the crowd, shaking hands and exchanging greetings.

"Fussyfoot" made a brief address and passed lightly over the incident of the hazing by students which cost him an eye.

Johnson told the crowd that the prohibition movement was "solidly under way" in England and that self preservation will force England to drive out intoxicating liquor inside of ten years.

KENTON MAN KILLED

KENTON.—Charles E. Harriman, of this city, commercial agent for the Erie railroad and former station agent here, was killed instantly Saturday when hit by a train at Port Jervis, N. Y. Relatives here were notified of his death late last night.

DENIMS FOR CARRIERS

DAYTON.—City mail carriers will meet at an early date to take action on the proposal to wear denim overalls during the summer, rather than the regulation uniform.

CITY AND COUNTY BONDS UP

Many Names to Be Balloted on By Local Electors.

Ohio voters, Tuesday, will by ballot express their preference for presidential candidates, select delegates to state and national party conventions and in many instances decide the fate of municipal, county and township bonds.

Not since the presidential preference law became operative party leaders say, has so little interest in a primary campaign been manifested. That it presages a comparative small vote is the general opinion.

Of the three city issues, the first two, retaining wall and bridge bonds, have been twice before submitted to vote and defeated by small margins. Only against the third has any serious objection been raised. These bonds will be used for the purpose of enlarging the electric plant at the Lima waterworks pumping station and for the purpose of installing all equipment machinery and appliances necessary for furnishing of light and power to the city of Lima, O., and the inhabitants thereof.

It is admittedly aimed as a club to be used by the city in dealing with the Ohio Electric railway over the street lighting franchise.

Each voter in the city Tuesday will be handed four ballots varying from a few inches to one yard in length. On one he will vote his choice of candidates for president and vice-president, on another delegates to state and national conventions, the third will contain the municipal bond issues and on the fourth, the proposed county bond issues.

Return of the vote in the state may show contradictory results under the present system of balloting such as lead to the great political schism in 1912. For example, by reason of separate ballots the majority preference vote might favor Wood and the entire state of delegates pledged to Harding be elected or vice versa.

Primary ballots were received from the printer Friday by the Allen-co Board of Elections and at once bundled by precincts and sealed for distribution Monday. Polling places will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. that day to permit registration of transfers.

Only one name appears on the Democratic presidential preference ballot—James M. Cox for president and no candidates for vice-president. On the Republican ballot are the names of Leonard Wood and Warren G. Harding for president, and William Grant Webster and Edmund Washington as candidates for vice-president.

Each party will elect four delegates and four alternates from the state at large and two delegates and two alternates from this district to the national conventions.

No contest is shown on the Democratic ballot for delegates at large. The candidates are: James E. Campbell, Judson Harmon, Edison H. Moore and Allee Pomeroy, all pledged to Cox as first choice and James E. Campbell, second, the latter a mere formality required under

NEARER BEER IS NEAR IN N. Y.

Governor Smith Expected to Sign Bill for 2.75 Per Cent Booze.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Governor Smith Saturday night was expected to sign the Walker-Gillett bill, passed by both houses of the legislature, which permits the manufacture and sale of beer with a 2.75 per cent alcoholic content.

Under the bill, sale of beer containing this amount will be permitted in cities of the first and second class. Local option on the question in smaller cities and units is provided for.

The measure limits sale of liquor to hotels, restaurants and from producers direct to consumer.

The bill cannot have any force until the end of war-time prohibition and its effectiveness will then depend upon the supreme court's decision on state's jurisdiction under the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution.

Under an emergency message from Governor Smith just before midnight the senate passed the necessary bills to re-establish the department of excise. It will be passed by the lower under an emergency message.

TALLEST MAN IN THE WORLD

John van Albart and two men of normal height. John van Albart, of Amsterdam, Holland, nineteen-year-old youth, who recently arrived in New York, is the tallest person in the world. He is nine feet five inches tall and his arms, legs and body are in normal proportion with his height.

REPUBLICAN RACE REVOKE CHARTERS IS TIGHTENED

Primaries Place Three Leading Candidates on Even Terms.

NEW YORK.—The race for the Republican presidential nomination has tightened up until the three candidates now leading are practically on even terms.

The standings to date on the basis of instructed delegates is:

Major General Leonard Wood 78; Governor Frank O. Lowden 73; Senator Hiram Johnson 61.

Lowden made the greatest gain this week, receiving 26 instructed delegates from the Iowa state convention. Johnson was next with 14 delegates instructed in the Nebraska primary and eight in the Montana primary.

Wood got two instructed delegates from Nebraska while the six selected at the Delaware convention were regarded as certain for Wood.

Meantime, the Democratic situation has shown no indication of becoming clarified. Instructed delegates at present are distributed as follows:

Herbert Hoover 33; Senator Robert Owen, 29; Senator Gilbert Hitchcock, 16; William Jennings Bryan, 10; James W. Gerard, 10.

No Democratic delegates were instructed this week. The 29 picked in the Kansas convention are claimed for McAdoo by his followers, while Missouri's 28, selected at a state convention, probably will cast a ballot first for Clark.

During the coming week, the Republicans will pick 146 and the Democrats 113 delegates. This is the schedule.

Tuesday—New Jersey primaries (28 Republican and 25 Democratic delegates); Ohio primaries (48 Republican and 48 Democratic delegates); Massachusetts primaries (25 Republican and 36 Democratic delegates); Washington state convention (14 Republican delegates); Idaho state convention (12 Republican delegates).

Wednesday—state convention Arkansas (16 Republican delegates).

In New Jersey, Wood and Johnson organizations concluded a bitter fight Saturday to win that state's endorsement. Wood will oppose a favorite son in both Ohio and Massachusetts; Senator Warren Harding in the former, and Calvin Coolidge, in the latter. Washington is expected to instruct for Senator Miles Pendergast and Idaho for Senator William Borah. Both are regarded as friendly to Johnson. Lowden's friends claim Arkansas for him.

Governor James Cox is expected to carry Ohio and Edwards to win in New Jersey, while sentiment for McAdoo is said to be strong in Massachusetts.

PREPARE FOR BIG DRIVE

General Alvarado Troops Make Ready to Enter Chihuahua.

AGUA PRETA, Sonora, Mex.—With civil war reported in progress in the amplexo oil region and Sonora rebels invading Sinaloa state to the south of here, the arrival of Obregon is expected to mark the opening of a strenuous campaign that his adherents predict will end in overthrow of the Mexico City government.

WASHINGTON. — Francisco Villa, rebel chief, has definitely joined the Obregon revolt, to overthrow President Carranza despite the fact that General Obregon is known as the "only man who ever defeated Villa," according to announcement Saturday night at the headquarters of General Alvarado, representative of the revolution.

News of the Mexican revolution available in Washington was one-sided, practically all favoring the rebels as the Mexican embassy had no advices up to a late hour and the dispatches coming in thru American sources were few and meager.

Advices received Saturday by Alvarado from Chihuahua that Villa had sent advices to Governor De La Huerta of Sonora that he would cooperate with the revolutionists against the Mexican federal troops in Chihuahua. Villa told De La Huerta, it was said, that he was about to launch a campaign against the federal forces in Chihuahua that would wholly engage their attention.

He declared that the federals would not be allowed to leave Chihuahua to invade Sonora.

Villa expects that within the next two weeks at least half of the Carranza troops now in Chihuahua and Durango will abandon the government and go over to him, according to a report received in Washington Saturday thru official government channels that soldiers of the 43rd federal battalion at La Cruz, Chihuahua, rebelled last Wednesday. Alvarado said Saturday night that, in reality, a much larger body of troops mutinied and passed over to Villa.

Alvarado said Villa is fully prepared for his "Chihuahua drive" in support of the Obregon revolt. In his foray several months ago in Coahuila, the home state of President Carranza, Villa confiscated a large amount of ammunition that Carranza had secretly stored at Kuesquitlan, according to Alvarado.

It is the fear of this precarious situation that has led President Carranza to dispatch his son-in-law, General Candido Aguilar, former governor of Vera Cruz, to Chihuahua City to assume command of all troops in the northern zone, which mission Carranza feared to entrust to either of his three remaining generals—Gonzales, Murguía and Diago, Alvarado continued.

Alvarado said the states of Sonora and Sinaloa are completely under the military control of the state governments with the single exception of a small territory in the southern part of Sinaloa, including the port of Mazatlan, which General Flores of the Sonora forces is endeavoring to take without bloodshed. The state of Nayarit is under complete control of the Sonora forces, while the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guerrero to the south and east, are dominated by former federal forces under competent military commanders, who have declared for the revolution. In these states there remains not a single federal command of any importance.

THREE CAR LOADS OF COAL ARRIVE AFTER ORDERS FROM STATE

Three car loads of coal were delivered to Mayor Burkhardt Saturday as part of the consignment from the state utilities commission to relieve the fuel shortage. These in turn were turned over to local dealers where the needs appeared deserving of first consideration, the mayor said. Domestic calls for coal fluctuate as the weather changes. Mayor Burkhardt said, but the worst of the coal situation is believed over.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF PILGRIM FATHER'S SAILING

LONDON. — The Congregational Union of England and Wales has appointed committees and has plans for advanced for a celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers for America, starting September 3.

A series of celebrations is planned the first to be a reception by the Lord Mayor of Plymouth in Guildhall, Plymouth. A three-day programme is planned there and on September 7 the tercentenary will be observed in many other English towns.

DIVORCE TO COST MORE IN LIMA

Bar Association Raises Fees From $25 to $50

Divorces in Allen-co will come higher henceforth. In fact, lawyer's fees are considered a deterrent, then the cost should be reduced about 50 per cent. By unanimous vote of the Allen-co Bar Association following complete reorganization Saturday, the minimum divorce fee is raised from $25 to $50. A minimum schedule of fees considerably higher than that heretofore was adopted applying to other classes of legal services.

Rejuvenating the old organization Allen-co bar members took steps to place the association on an active professional basis. A membership committee consisting of James W. Halphill, chair. H. O. Bentley and W. L. Rodgers will conduct a campaign for members. The grievance committee is composed of John W. Roby, chairman, H. E. Darling and Brice Selfridge.

Paul Landis is president of the association. L. E. Ludwig vice-president; J. L. Rocky treasurer and Oliver Kois secretary.

The new schedule of charges is similar to those in effect in Dayton, Mansfield, Canton, Portsmouth and other Ohio cities, and corresponds to the general increase along other lines.

The new association also went on record as opposing the practice of attorneys acting as bondsmen for clients.

Members of the association already enrolled are:

J. J. Weadock, B. H. Holmes, J. J. Kees, Paul T. Landis, W. H. Rogers, F. H. Downing, Walter G. Gossauer, J. H. Hamilton, E. T. Lippincott, L. H. Rogers, Minor A. Atmire, Ernest M. Borkin, R. R. ## HARRY ALTSCHUL SELLS HOME TO W. C. FRIDLEY; HARRY NEFF BUYS HOUSE

Harry Altschul, 417 Lincoln-ave., has disposed of his property near Lakewood-ave to William C. Fridley, Lima distributor of Ford cars. The amount paid was $25,000.

Altschul will move his family to Los Angeles about July 1, to reside. The property has one hundred foot frontage. The house is of brick. Fridley occupies it as a home.

Henry Neff, of the Buckeye Pipe Line company, has purchased the old Altschul property, on W. High-st, near Washington, paying $10,000 to Rufus Neely. It has a 46-foot frontage and 200-foot depth and was bought as an investment.

The property is located the first house west of Washington-st on High. Both real estate deals were made thru the Michael and Fiehl company, Delin block, N. Main-st.

GUSTAVE WIEGMAN DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Gustave Wiegman, 45, 511 Linden-st, died Saturday afternoon after an illness of two days from apoplexy. He was born in August, 1870, in New Bremen and was a tinner by occupation.

Surviving are the widow, two sons Rufus and Melvin, three brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the residence. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

"AMERICA DAY" LEADERS TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of the general committee named by Mayor Burkhardt to arrange for "America Day," May 1, will be held in the chamber of commerce Tuesday night to go over plans and complete parade details. Negotiations have practically been closed, Mayor Burkhardt said, with Ed Silvers, balloonist, to make an ascension in connection with the other events. Silvers recently moved to Lima and expects to make this city his headquarters for his summer engagements.

BRITISH WOMEN ARE INVADING POLITICAL CLUBS

LONDON.—Now that women are invading political clubs, heretofore the sole privilege of men, certain cautious male members are getting the wind up, asking: "What will my wife say?"

Mrs. Norah Gallichan, for some years a Liberal party machine worker, has applied for and undoubtedly will get membership in the National Liberal Club.

"I have been working for Liberalism for years," said Mrs. Gallichan, "but I have been thru the invitation of a man. Women political workers should be equals with men."

AGED MAN DIES AT TANNER-AVE BOARDING HOUSE OF APOPLEXY

Abner Cash, 82, retired farmer, died at his boarding-place, Mrs. Effie Wall's home, 1014 Tanner-ave, Friday night. He was ill two days from apoplexy. He was born in January, 1838, in Pike-co.

Surviving are two daughters in Anderson, Ind., a son in West Liberty and Lloyd Cash, 1523 S. Main-st, Lima.

Funeral services will be held Monday at two o'clock. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

CASH FUNERAL MONDAY

Funeral services for Abner Cash, 1014 Tanner-ave, who died Friday night, will be held Monday at 2 o'clock at the City Undertaking company's mortuary, Rev. L. S. Wingers will officiate and interment will be at Woodlawn.

POLITICAL GOSSIP

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

EUGENE T. LIPPINCOTT

In speaking last night of the candidacy of Senator Harding Colonel Albert E. Gale, Chairman of the Republican executive committee, said: "Senator Harding will not only have a large majority on the Presidential preference ballot Tuesday, but the Harding delegates from Ohio will receive overwhelming support. Reports from every section indicate the certain election of Harding delegates, and I am willing to trust my own judgment on the situation in Allen-co. Mr. Halphill, who has visited every county in this district, says that William W. Wood, III, of Piqua, and himself will be elected delegates and that the Columbus headquarters of Senator Harding say that reports from over the entire state, indicate that the Harding Big Four—Herrick, Willis, Daugherty and Galvin, will all be elected by an overwhelming vote."

Colonel Gale further said, "State pride has not only asserted itself here in Ohio, but the probability that another Ohio Republican will lead the party to victory in November, has created enthusiasm in the rank and file of the party, and when genuine Republicanism is aroused, Republican triumph thruout the nation is assured."

Speaking of the fact that only about 25 per cent. of the Republican voters of the State attended the Presidential primary four years ago, Colonel Gale said, "I think you will find that percentage greatly increased this year, for a full Republican vote will show other states that Ohio backs her favorite son to the finish."

"A good big vote for Senator Harding on next Tuesday, will of itself tremendously aid in restoring Ohio to the Republican column."

A. B. Peckinpah, of Wooster, candidate for the Democratic nomination for auditor of state, is well known in Allen-co and has many friends who are actively interested in the progress of his campaign. He was at one time auditor of Wayne-co and for one year was connected with the office of state auditor. He is now on the state tax commission.

MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF RECKLESS DRIVING

Traffic cop Laughlin Saturday night arrested a man giving his name as Frank Forbese, 628 W. North-st, Laughlin charges that Forbese was intoxicated and was driving his automobile in reckless manner. Complaints were received at police headquarters that Forbese collided with four machines on Union-st damaging each.

Joe Miller, Delphos, and Herman Glomb, Delphos, were arrested Saturday night on charges of being intoxicated and driving his machine in a reckless manner.

Mrs. Harriett Houtz, 953 Arch-ave, charged with adultery, and E. McGuire, Delin, Ohio, charged with fornication, when arrested Saturday night were released on bonds of $25 each. They will be given hearing Monday.

ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY NOW FOR ALL PURPOSES

With the city's new billion gallon reservoir now filled to the capacity allowed under contract until construction work is completed, Lima is in a position to insure an adequate water supply for all purposes, Mayor Burkhardt said Saturday in arranging for a conference with engineers of the Baltimore and Ohio for next week.

Whatever real danger of the B. & O. shops moving because of water supply as intimated in a letter to the mayor some few weeks ago is now eliminated, city officials say. The normal supply at Lima lake is available and in addition nearly 200,000,000 gallons as reserve in the new reservoir.

DIVORCE RESULTS FROM GREINA GREEN WEDDING

Another Greina Green wedding has gone on the rocks and the parties thereto have landed in the divorce courts. Newport, Ky. was the scene of the marriage, in November, 1914. In a suit for divorce filed Saturday afternoon, Bessie McMillen asks a decree from Fred P. McMillen. She charges he failed to work and earn her living and nearly all of her married life, she has been compelled to make her own way.

MEN AND MATTERS

A. S. Holstein, manager of the ready-to-wear department of the Leader store, leaves today for a 10-day buying trip to New York and other eastern points.

N. F. Hall, 927 W. Wayne-st, well-known real estate dealer, is rapidly recovering at his home from a serious cold.

D. D. Simons, president and general manager of the Simmons Bros. Collecting company, has purchased a home at 342 Leiland-ave.

WOMAN BROUGHT TO LIMA

Mrs. Earl Shuler, Dayton, who sustained a fractured hip in a fall, came to Lima Saturday to be cared for by her sister, Mrs. Henry Hopkins, 131 E. Eureka-st. She was removed from the Baltimore and Ohio station to the sister's home in the City Undertaking company's ambulance.

INFANT DIES

Helen Louise Boegel, ten-days-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boegel, died Saturday night at the City hospital from bowel trouble. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 o'clock at the Williams and Davis mortuary, Rev. W. A. Alsapch will officiate and interment will be in Woodlawn.

GROCERS WILL CLOSE

Starting Thursday, May 6, Lima grocery stores will observe the weekly half holiday during the summer months resuming regular six-day week on September 1. Sixty retail grocers attended the meeting at which vote on closing was unanimous, it was announced.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL STIRS ASIA

Anti-European Agitation Causes Unrest Thruout Anatolia

ADALIA, Anatolia.—The whole of Anatolia seems to be infected with anti-European unrest fomented from Mustapha Kemal's headquarters at Konia.

Mustapha's emissaries have been touring the country preaching a revolt against the Allies and declaring that a carefully organized movement has every chance of success, as Europe is unable at this time to undertake a new and costly campaign in Asia Minor, and also pointing to the withdrawal of France from Mesopotamia as evidence of the results to be obtained by a rising on a greater scale.

A colonel from Kemal's staff visited Adalia a few days ago and had secret interviews with influential Turks at the local club. He said the army was ready to fight for the integrity of Turkey, and promised a coup at Constantinople within a month, as a result of which the provinces would be guaranteed liberation from European domination and the freedom of the capital would be secured. The propagandists are undoubtedly influencing the people.

I found the attitude of the Turks here one of thinly veiled hostility, while a number were openly offensive in the bazaars, in contrast to the natives of Mesopotamia, where a strong French colonial force, with machine guns and artillery holds the port.

The railway service to the interior is irregular and unsafe for foreigners. Armenians continue to flee to the coast by train and road, and there has been an exodus from Adana.

The majority are emigrating, terrified by the threats of the Moslems, and are paying exorbitant prices for passages in overcrowded steamers, some to Cyprus, many to America.

Mustapha has been strengthening his force of regulars by pressing methods, thus securing an unwilling recruits from the villages. It is estimated the nucleus of his army consists of two divisions, largely seasoned troops, concentrated north of the Taurus Mountains, while another force is close to the frontier of the Greek zone round Smyrna, where constant outpost fighting is taking place, costing the Greeks twenty casualties weekly on an average.

Mustapha has drawn a cordon to prevent foodstuffs and merchandise from leaving Anatolia for the territory occupied by the Allies, and there is no trade whatever with the interior.

He has also been negotiating with the Arab government for joint operations in Northern Syria to occur simultaneously with a rising in Anatolia. The troops there are chiefly irregular levies operating independently and intent on pillage, but they would be inclined to join the regulars if inducements were sufficient.

Bochevist agents are said to have reached Mustapha's headquarters from Russia via the Black Sea, but it is impossible to say what reliance can be placed on allegations made on the coast of some kind of working agreement with the Lemnians.

I am assured by individuals who are thoroughly informed of the situation and have a long knowledge of the Turkish character, and of Mustapha's resources, that no serious revolt is possible if the Allies undertake energetic and prompt measures. The Turks fear aeroplanes more than anything, and a few bombing raids on the principal centres of unrest would tend to restore them to sanity.

APPETIZERS

Oyster Canape—Allow two medium-sized oysters for each service. Prepare finger-widths of toast. Mince very fine one small onion, four branches of parsley.

Now place one tablespoon of butter in a frying pan and add the well-drained oysters from bits of shell. Cook for two minutes and then lift to buttered toast. Sprinkle with finely minced onion and parsley, a few drops of lemon juice and a dusting of salt. Sprinkle well with paprika and then serve.

Cheese and Onion Appetizer—Mince fine three onions. Place a little bacon or ham fat in a frying pan—about one tablespoon—add the onions and cook slowly until very soft. Do not let brown. Now add four tablespoons of grated cheese, one tablespoon of catsup, one teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon of salt. Serve on small triangles of nicely the primary law. For alternates the candidates are: William Green, Lazar Kahn, George S. Long and John L. Shuff.

In the district, however, there is rivalry among Democrats, four candidates being entered both for delegates and alternates with only two of each to be chosen. All, however, are pledged to Cox for president. They are, for delegates: F. D. Christian, J. Henry Goeke, Dan H. Kirwan and James R. Marker; for alternates: Con F. Drees, Clay E. Harmon, J. F. Steinbrunner and J. Leudall Williams.

Chief interest locally lies in the candidates of Kirwan and Goecke both of whom are especially well known in Allen-co with business connections in Lima and Goecke who formerly represented the Fourth district in Congress. Kirwan is also a member of the state highway commission and a close personal friend of Governor Cox.

Republican ballots indicate the real contest over delegates at large. Six candidates are entered of whom two are pledged to Wood and four to Harding. They are: for Wood, with Garfield as second choice, William H. Boyd and Edward C. Turner; for Harding, Harry M. Daugherty, John Galvin, Myron T. Herrick and Frank B. Willis. The Harding men with the exception of Galvin give J. Warren Kelfer as second choice. Galvin names Wood.

Only four names are entered by Republicans for alternate at large. Wood forces are strong no doubt. They are: Edwin Jones, Harry L. Vail, Daniel C. Brower and Charles A. Cottrill. Vail names Hiram Johnson as second choice the others favoring Kelfer.

In the district there is a fight indicated with Harding and Wood forces each having two candidates for delegates. Wood candidates are George H. O'Neil and J. W. Means. Harding's alternates are William W. Wood and James W. Halphill.

MEMBERSHIP IN COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEARING 1000; MARION TWP LEADS

The Allen-co farm bureau now has 903 members, according to report made by L. S. Van Natta, county farm agent, at the close of the campaign for membership.

"Efficiency of organization and the capable solicitors sent here by the Ohio Farm bureau association are responsible for the results," Van Natta says.

The former membership of the farm bureau at one dollar a year numbered only 200. The present membership of nearly a thousand will pay $10 a year membership fees.

The money will be spent to increase the equipment of the bureau. Marion-twp leads with 418 members, closely followed by Jackson with 112. Membership in the city numbers four.

Other townships are as follows: Richmond, 89; Monroe, 86; Auglaize, 89; Smith, 90; Amanda, 70; Spencer, 58; Sugar Creek, 54; America, 51; Perry, 45; Shawnee, 43.

F. P. Miller, president of the Lancaster farm bureau and a company of five solicitors, put on the campaign here.

DAY OF PRAYER IN LIMA CHURCHES

Inauguration Opening at Inter-church Movement.

Lima churches affiliated with the Inter-church World Movement will inaugurate a day of prayer Sunday as the opening of the campaign.

The financial canvass starts in Lima this afternoon at two o'clock. Solicitors will call upon members of the various churches this afternoon for their subscription. Members of Methodist, Christian, Episcopal, Reformed, Baptist, Congregational, United Brethren and Presbyterian churches will offer up silent prayer for five minutes for the financial success of the campaign.

Team captains for the canvass are C. V. Stephens, Arthur D. Thomas, D. R. Cantigny, W. J. Keyes, Frank Priest and Fred W. Zeils. Other business and professional men will make a campaign among persons of the city friendly to the church, but who are not members.

In all the participating churches, ministers will devote a part of the sermon time to explaining the movement and telling where the funds will be used.

At moving picture theatres Saturday night, men active in the cause explained the movement. L. I. Mercer spoke at the Regent, Rev. O. P. Hoffman at the Majestic and C. F. Hill at the Lyric, Rialto and Panora.

In all moving picture houses next week three-minute speakers will tell of the movement. Rev. Kyle Booth, C. C. Gaskill, Rev. S. I. Flory, Attorney L. E. Ludwig and S. C. Biddle will address shop meetings next week at the noon hour.

The schedule is as follows: Monday—Buckeye Machine company, Baltimore and Ohio shops. Rev. Kyle Booth, Tuesday—East Iron works, Rev. Kyle Booth, Lima Locomotive works, C. C. Gaskill; Wednesday—Garford Motor Truck company, Attorney T. R. Hamilton; Thursday—Chalmers Manufacturing company, Rev. S. I. Flory.

Other meetings will be arranged for the remaining days of the week. At all these meetings S. C. Biddle of the Y. M. C. A. and Rev. A. D. Welty, of the Rescue Mission, will sing.

PRISONER STABS SELF WHEN HIS MOTHER STAYS AWAY

OSSINING, N. Y.—Despondent, he said, because his mother failed to visit him, John Gallagher, twenty-two years old, serving a two-and-a-half-year sentence for burglary, attempted to commit suicide in Sing Sing by stabbing himself over the heart with a pearl-handled jack-knife.

Gallagher inflicted a dangerous wound, but the hospital was said that he would recover. Prison officials are unable to learn how he obtained the weapon.

GEORGIAN ADDRESSED HOUSE IN OVERALLS

Representative Upshaw in his overalls

Representative William D. Upshaw of Georgia, the only evangelist in congress, is the organizer and pioneer of the congressional overalls club. Clad in overalls he recently made a speech in the house in which he said "The high cost of clothing was too much for me, but I solved the problem by buying a suit of overalls for $4.95."

WOMEN VOTERS IN BAY STATE

Eleven Massachusetts Suffragists to Attend Convention

BOSTON.—Eleven Massachusetts women are sure of election as alternate delegates to the National Presidential conventions. Ten will go to San Francisco, and Alexandra Corbilio McFeiffer, the actress, will be sent to Chicago by the Republican voters of the Eighth Congressional District.

The primaries today will mark not only the first participation of women in political convention elections, but women will be elected to office in a State-wide canvass for the first time in the history of the commonwealth.

Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, of Boston; Miss Mary A. Carson, of Pittsfield; Mrs. Mary Keegan Shuman, of Boston and Mrs. Helen G. Thayer, of Worcester, will be elected alternates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention.

The election lists from the Secretary of State's office show also that these women will be elected alternate district delegates without a contest.

Fifth District, Katherine F. McCarthy, of Lowell, and Anna Lovett McGowan, of Woburn; seventh, Genevieve E. McGuire, of Lynn; eighth, Gladys T. Bragdon, of Melrose, and Gertrude P. Daly, of Medford; ninth, Agnes E. Blood, of Somerville.

There is a possibility of a twelfth woman being elected. In the twelfth District Marguerite O'Brien, of Boston, is one of the five candidates for alternates. Assistant District Attorney Daniel J. Gallagher and Representative William J. Manning are group candidates in the South Boston District, and William J. Holland and Herbert A. Kenner are the remaining men who contest the election with the sole woman.

An interesting possibility is that a wife is certain to be elected while her husband, running as a candidate for delegate in the same district, may be defeated. Mrs. McGuire is the only alternate candidate in the Seventh District. Charles H. McGuire, recent Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, is one of the four candidates for the two delegates.

places. Mrs. McGuire is the only one of the four who has failed to state his attitude on President Wilson's League of Nations.

Mrs. McGuire will be remembered by the rally audiences as the attractive young lady who accompanied her husband thruout his state-wide campaigns in the last two State elections.

ly to be the choice of the San Francisco convention. This belief is based, apparently, on the increasing prominence of the peace treaty and league of nations covenant as a campaign issue and the conviction that the Versailles compact is to be paramount in the campaign the President is logically called upon to take leadership in its defense.

The very narrow margin by which Attorney General Palmer won the preference vote in Georgia and the fact that he has a hard fight on at home, with the possibility of a split delegation from Pennsylvania, has served to give an impetus to the boom of former Secretary McAdoo as a likely administration candidate and champion of the Wilson policies—provided always that the President himself will not take the nomination.

From a number of states come reports of McAdoo's increasing favor among democrats. The Kansas delegation will be for him and would have been so instructed had it not been for McAdoo's wishes to the contrary, and from Colorado, New Mexico and elsewhere correspondents send word of an increasing volume of McAdoo talk in the ranks of organized labor.

But all the democratic candidacies continued to be hobbled with an "it," the aforesaid if being whether Woodrow Wilson intends to take, or would consent to take, the San Francisco nomination for himself.

O. E. HEADS POSTPONE MEETING WITH COUNCIL

On account of other business engaging their attention in the East, Day and Zimmerman, operators of the Ohio Electric lines, will be unable to meet with council Monday night over the franchise city officials were informed Saturday, and the conference set for that time has been postponed to Thursday night.

The city will enter the conference prepared to insist on using the tentative franchises as drawn by a citizens committee some time ago and submitted to the Ohio Electric as basis for discussion, councilmen have indicated. Several copies of the old franchises have been made for the meeting.

SUMMER SCHEDULE WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE ON OHIO ELECTRIC TODAY

Beginning Sunday, the Ohio Electric railway company will inaugurate their spring and summer interurban schedule.

But few changes will be made. The Columbus limited train, which left Lima at 7:15 o'clock previously in the morning, will now leave at 7 o'clock.

The first car from Defiance will reach Lima now at 7:35 a. m., instead of 9 o'clock, as before.

The first morning cars into Lima from Bellefontaine, Deahler and Van Wert are scheduled to leave an hour earlier than by the last time heard, or the time they have been running the past week, to get working people into Lima to assume their duties by eastern time. No other changes are made in departure and arrival of cars in Lima.

"All cars will be operated on central standard time," Claude C. Fash, superintendent of the Ohio Electric, said Saturday. "But few minor changes are made at this time, as we believe the schedule now suits the convenience of our patrons as well as we could devise," he stated.

LIMA ATTORNEY ARGUE CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

Lima attorneys argued a case in federal court, Toledo, when the closing-up of affairs of the Pandora Manufacturing company and Frank G. Kahle, trustee in bankruptcy, were concerned.

The appointment of H. G. Grindle, as referee, was being contested. Attorneys George H. Quail and John L. Cable appeared for Grindle and Attorneys W. L. Farmer, W. L. Mackenzie and Paul Landis for the trustee.

The court took the case under advisement.

CIRCUS IS COMING

The circus is coming to Lima! Hagenbeck and Wallace's big aggregation will show in Lima on Friday, May 7, bringing all their wild animals, clowns and everything to delight the heart of the young boys. Advance agents of the circus posted bills in Lima and surrounding towns Saturday.

WAREHOUSE IDEA ABANDONED

Establishment of a warehouse and shipping center here for Buick automobiles will not be made, H. L. DeWitt, head of the sales company, said yesterday. He said lack of cooperation in Lima on the proposition had caused the agent interested to decide upon Cincinnati for the shipping point. The large number of cars now parked here will be driven to that city this week, he said.

REMEMBER THAT AND VOTE "YES."

The proposed Spencerville Road Bridge which is to be voted on next Tuesday is part of the plan of river improvement and means a great step forward. This will be a great advantage to the people of the South Side in many ways. It is now necessary to go north of the river to reach the Spencerville-rd or to go to the City Park or Woodlawn cemetery. This bridge and the extending of Kibby-st to the river will make Kibby-st a

GIRLS SPRING NEW LEAP YEAR TRAP

Lima Maidens Formulate Novel Plan to Captivate a Mate

Lima young women have found out a novel method of taking advantage of Leap Year, without blushes or smiles or hesitating words. All the girls are adopting it, so the story goes, and troubles of the eligible are growing worse every day. By the 1920 method, he can't get away possibly, at least, without some sort of answer. Seven little bows of colored ribbon are all that is required. On a sheet of pink note paper, scented with the sender's favorite perfume, which is calculated to have a soothing effect on his nerves, is written, in pen and ink, the verses:

Blue paper will not do, because it is not sentimental enough.
Over the word telling the color of the ribbon is fastened the tiny bow of that same color.

The verses run:
If you sometimes of me think
Send me back this bow of pink.
If to me your heart is true
Send me back this bow of blue.
If for me there is no hope

Send me back this heliotrope.
If with me you will unite
Send me back this bow of white.
If of me you sometimes dream
Send me back this bow of green.
If you are some other girl's fellow
Send me back this bow of yellow.
If to me your heart is dead
Send me back this bow of red.
The full name and address is signed at the bottom of the sheet. He sends back one of the ribbon bows and the answer is known.

OHIO READY FOR STATE PRIMARY

Senator Harding Expected to Make Strong Showing

WOOD IS HEAVY FAVORITE

Johnson and Hoover Not Contesting—Vote Tuesday

(By Marcus) COLUMBUS. — To the extent that there is machine control of Ohio, its votes will be cast or next Tuesday for Senator Warren G. Harding in the conference primary and for delegates to the state primary. To the extent that the independent sentiment in the Republican party is allowed to govern the vote is likely to be strongly unfavorable to him. The managers for Major General Leonard Wood say as high as two to one and they base their judgment on many polls taken in all parts of the state which show almost universal preference for Wood as a heavy favorite. The question that remains is whether the independent sentiment will get itself voted and counted. On that proposition one man's guess is as good as another. A little extra strength should be allowed the Senator on the score of state pride but eliminate that and he has few drawing powers aside from the machine. It is a test of it, that's sure.

It is perhaps lucky for the two contestants that the name of Hiram Johnson and Herbert C. Hoover are not printed on the ballots. Thousands, perhaps tens of thousands, will write their names on the ballots and if stickers were permitted under the Ohio law the number would be still heavier. But in the difficulty of writing the names it is not likely that either can make a very heavy showing. The Harding fellows have been playing up the distractions in the last few days as a means of taking the opposition to Harding away from Wood. It is realized that unless the Senator wins a smashing victory he is out of the running and prospects for a big majority are not bright. The certainty, however, is that independent sentiment will have no chance to register itself thru Harry M. Daugherty and other Harding delegate candidates and this in turn may produce some Wood alignments on the part of the large element that wants neither Wood nor Harding.

Because they have no contests that amount to anything on their side it will be hard work to keep the democrats out of the primary next Tuesday.

way. The vote of the Jacksonians will be light, so light that in many communities it will be little of a job to count it. The contests for delegates have excited only local interest there being nothing but organization interest. The democrats may take a hand in the counting, changing the usual rule that Republicans count Republican ballots and Democrats count Democratic ballots in the primary. In sentiment they seem to be as much divided as the Republicans. Many of them wish Harding because his nomination, it is figured, would help their own favorite, Governor Cox, who being sure of Ohio, is gone gleaming elsewhere and others preferring General Wood. In the primary all they ask is an honest count.

Every person in Ohio ought to read the circular on Americanization which has been prepared by a special committee of the Ohio Council of Social Agencies and is now ready for distribution thru the Ohio Institute for Public Efficiency. It is a call to higher Americanism in terms of thought and service that might make itself felt to the farthest corners of the world. The authorship of the document is credited to Miss Juliette Sessions, a Columbus teacher, who is decidedly not of the element of "female furies" who have spilled over the world. Still many bitter opponents of female suffrage in Ohio could be reconciled to it were it possible to dilute the electorate with as much sense as Miss Sessions has embodied in her summary of the situation. For proof of this read, digest and take home this definition of what real Americanizing is: "It is developing mutual understanding and good will between Americans by inheritance and Americans by choice and bringing them all to know and accept American ideals and to share responsibility for making these ideals real."

While many, if not most, of the good things promised by the war have gone astray, Ohio has retained two. One of them is a few millions of dollars of war savings stamps and the other is the community chest habit. Right now, Cincinnati and Dayton are staging big campaigns that seem to be going over with a whirl. Dayton is going a little slower but will catch up as the Gem City always does. Now Newark is staging one. In a time of abundant prosperity, there is no reason why the cities can not go together in a democratic way to provide for those who for several and various reasons are badly in need of help. The communities ought to take another tip, too. In the time of easy money, they might lay something by for the times when money will be tight. These times are surely coming, no matter which party is elected to power. De-prelaid dollars will be appreciated once later.

It is a wonder that some of the numerous candidates for President have not caught the overall fever, what with Governor Frank O. Lowden wearing his old overcoat or up-steen winners and others who feel the need of it carrying on other forms of monkey shins in order to attract a nation. It may be said that the Republicans have lead in the foolishness stuff inasmuch as they have the most spectacular canvass. William J. Bryan excepted, all the Democratic aspirants seem to be content to let the convention go the deciding and to let it go at that. But gracious how good Hiram Johnson would look in overalls and it would be helpful and inspiring in the language of Warren G. Harding to see the printer's devil back in jumpers. Come on, fellows, do your stunt.

It's been told so often to city solicitors that they ought to know it by heart, the probably they do not, that action and multiplication of statutes is the need in combating rent profiteering, but let the poor things have forgotten. In the past few days, let another example be given from Akron. If there is any place in Ohio where the trouble might be expected to be severe it is Akron, city of overcrowding and high wages and congestion and carelessness with money in the good seasons. But Akron has a mayor, one Bill Laub, who, whatever else may be said of him, possesses courage. So he named a volunteer committee to serve on the rent question. They found profiteering, wholesale, glaring, indefensible. They ordered reductions and in 12 cases they pulled rentals down $50 a month or just 50 percent. Now the City Solicitors will — or should — feel mighty sheepish as they come around to say they can do nothing. Any city official who refuses to act these days is "in" with the profiteers and down in his heart he knows it.

Time, ruthless destroyer of many things, has killed another tradition, one in the office of the Marion Star. It once was the boast of its owner and general manager, Hon. Warren G. Harding, that it never, never, carried any Harding propaganda. But, my oh my. One ought to glance over it now. It is lousy with propaganda, reeking with it, one may add so that one would think it was a campaign dodger. Folks who have been here during the week from Marion County furnish the explanation. There is trouble at home. It is, of course, inconceivable that a large vote will be rolled up against the Senator in dear old Marion, but then, they say, so they do, that in no town in the state is there a larger branch, proportionately speaking, of the Railroad Men's Anti-Harding Club than in this self-same Marion. This week the lead of the propaganda articles was a long statement by the Senator using the word "assassins" frequently in describing the men who recalled his remarks in the Congressional Record in favor of Dollar Wheat. Seemed all "het up" about it.

It was a hot mess which a band of former service men took up for Senator Harding in dear old Marion. After stating in a dodger that the Senator's attitude is open to question, they give some quotations from the Congressional Record. Here they are:

On the War—"Much of the sentiment concerning our part in the war is balderdash." July 20, 1917.

On Liberty Bonds—"I have believed the Liberty Bond campaign hysterical and unseemly." Same date.

On Theodore Roosevelt—"In seeking a prototype for Colonel Roosevelt among American public men of the past, one finds the closest resemblance in Aaron Burr."

The Wood men doubtless will deny they had anything to do with this publication just as they denied they had anything to do with circulating the statement of Senator Harding that a dollar a bushel is enough for wheat and the farmer should have a more. Whether they did or not, however, is their business and the fact is not important — quite the reverse.

One, however, must be interested as a good citizen in ascertaining whether the law is observed in the dodger. Examination of it seems to indicate there was a rather scrupulous regard for the statutes made and provided. For example, the fact that the remarks were taken from the Congressional Record and the files of the Senator's newspaper is in point and next to that is the fact that the document is signed by a man from the Rainbow Division, one from the army, one from the Thirty-seventh Division and one from the Eighty-fourth division as well as a man from the Air Service and from the navy establishes that it is signed by service men. The military ethics may be held to be understood by the men whose rank varies from Private to Major and could be in a position to know whether they fractured the law. The appeal, too, has an old-fashioned ring in this: "Vote as you shot." Sounds like post-Civil War days. Eh, what?

Incorporation of a big company to handle the product designed to prevent stream pollution has aroused the suspicion of certain state officials that commercialization of this proposition is to be attempted in Ohio. They say that if this were to become a fact the work of prevention of stream pollution would be seriously injured for the state cannot lead itself to the promotion of a project for private gain even tho the result of the activity be good. But it is asserted by those who have incorporated by putting the Travors-Lewis system on the market that they only contemplate the sale of the product at cost in Ohio and will conduct their exploitation in other fields when its success is demonstrated here. This should put a different face on the matter. The state needs stream purification now as badly as it needs anything next to reforestation of its hills.

An example of value to those who have forgotten that the war is over there is still need of patriotic endeavor is to be found in the activities of a group of Capitol workers, mostly citizens of the Ohio Agricultural Department. They have found that Otteen, North Carolina, are a number of young men trying to recover the health they lost in the United States Army service. Neither food nor accommodations are what they should be by any manner of means and that the government should do better. Among other things these loyal girls sent fresh eggs to the disabled soldiers, the commissary often supplying those of "doubtful" quality as one soldier wrote. Even were food furnished quite ideal the boys in the hospital naturally get lonesome and desire stimulating sympathy. This they have received in generous measure from the corps of workers, who will demobilize themselves when the last needful duty has been performed.

Cleveland is to have no May-Day parade of socialists Bolsheviks and others this year. Last year's party was of such character that it was described as too much for the town giving it a lot of unfavorable publicity all over the United States. The fault then seems to have rested with the city auto-rites who never acknowledged the danger until the community was in a mess of riot and disorder. Another dose of that sort would not advertise well the town's distinguished mayor, Harry L. Davis, who almost resigned a few weeks ago, but finally decided to hold on even while making it appear in notices in the gullible press (meaning thereby that part of it only is gullible) that he was actually to transpire himself out of office, a thing which he seems to have had no intention of doing. Anyway, there will be no parade, for which the citizens may be thankful.

SAW WOMAN KILLED, ENDS LIFE WITH ROPE

ROCKVILLE CENTER, L. I. — Franklin Hulse, forty-two, an employee of the municipal power plant, was found hanging to a rafter in a house which he occupied alone on Ocean Avenue. After an investigation the police announced he had committed suicide. Hulse was summoned as a witness in the manslaughter trial of Edward P. Stoeckle at Mineola recently but was not put on the stand. According to his sister, he had brooded much over witnessing the accident when Mrs. Anne Anderson was fatally injured by Stoeckle's machine. When Hulse did not return to work after coming home from Mineola his brother, working in the same plant, became alarmed and went to his house.

It is an intensely American characteristic to speak well of that which serve us well.

All of us find ourselves now and again going out of our way, even, to say a good word in behalf of that which has earned our good opinion.

So it happens that each intimate circle in which there is a Dort owner comes to hear frequently of the loyalty with which this car performs and the thrift with which it operates.

And these friends and acquaintances thru hearing about the sound qualities of the Dort soon find themselves possessed of a very precise knowledge of the car and a high esteem for its capability.

Then when they come to make their own selection of a car they discover a surprisingly strong preference for the Dort.

All thru the country you will find this tendency to single out the Dort as an especially desirable car to own growing steadily stronger.

BLUFFTON COLLEGE GLEE CLUBS AND ORCHESTRA TO APPEAR IN LIMA TUESDAY

The Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs and a 30-piece orchestra of Bluffton college will appear in Lima Tuesday evening, April 27, at Memorial hall. This is their final coming this year, after having completed tours of the central western states.

The Y. M. C. A. is bringing the combined organizations to Lima. The funds will be divided between Bluffton college and the Lima Y. M. C. A. The Lima association will use the money secured to equip municipal tennis courts in the city.

The Bluffton aggregations are the product of an Allen-co educational institution and one of the foremost schools in northwestern Ohio. Its musical organizations are fine representations of the high efficiency of the college.

Taking part in the concert will be, besides the three organizations, Miss Estelle Lugbill, Mr. Ende, Misses Jeanne Steiner and Eldreida Franz, and Mr. Schumacker.

CARD PARTY PLANNED

The Woman's Benefit association of the Maccabees will hold a card party at Morris Arcade hall, Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Members of the order, their families and friends are invited.

Capitalizing Income

Men of considerable earning power often overlook opportunities to capitalize a portion of their incomes.

It is important for the business executive to set aside a reserve, or to create a source of income quite independent of his calling. The "saving idea" is not alone for the wage earner.

The "Lima Trust Plan" offers a method by which part of a comfortable income may be capitalized—turned into permanent capital. It also offers the solution of the business man's investment problems.

Ask for our booklet describing the plan.

KENTUCKY GREETES GOVERNOR COX

Blue Grass State Extends Hearty Welcome to Ohio Executive

IN OWENSBORO YESTERDAY

Is Their Choice to Fill Chair of President.

By HOWARD BURRA.

OWENSBORO, Ky., — Away down here in the western part of old Kentucky, in that section of the commonwealth best known as the "peninsula" district, Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, has found a friendship he never knew existed.

Last Wednesday morning he journeyed, at the solicitation of leading Kentucky Democrats, into the extreme western part of this state. Wednesday evening when he reached the Seelbach hotel in Louisville and found an enthusiastic delegation awaiting him, he did not know the name of a single town or city in which he was expected to speak.

Today as his trip neared an end he has scores of new names at the tip of his tongue, and back in Mayfield Paducah, Henderson, Owensboro and several other thriving and prosperous towns they are discussing his visit and still enjoying it.

"It is strange I never had occasion to get into western Kentucky before," he said on the train last night as we came up the river from a splendid meeting at Henderson, home of a Governor A. O. Stanley and which was attended by a large delegation from Indiana. "I've spent my time mostly in the bluegrass and central Kentucky and never got over in what is to me the most interesting part of the entire state. And, say, wouldn't you give a good deal if we could get a nice piece of cherry cobbler every day like that we had at Mayfield?"

Travelling all night the governor reached Mayfield early Thursday morning. Alighting at the depot he gazed upon one of the strangest sights of his life. Passing slowly along every street leading to a large tobacco chute near the depot were hundreds and hundreds of farm wagons—every one of them drawn by a pair of mules—and each wagon loaded with tobacco. It was not crated, and neither was it poked in hogheads. It was piled five and six feet high, in twisters or "hands" as they call it here, and held on by a strip of rag carpet or a couple of quilts.

The governor enjoyed a breakfast of Graves county ham and eggs and in the company of newly made acquaintances he hurried back to the "chute" to watch the tobacco sales. Ten days ago "night riders" had burned the chutes in protests of lowering tobacco prices. But their work was of no avail, for on the very day the Ohio man visited the market the auctioneer's sales averaged a little better than a wagonload a minute. The bottom had dropped out within ten days Tobacco that had been easily worth 25c three months ago was bringing 11 and 12c a pound, and it was with long-drawn faces that the planters paraded with it. No one picture this distress occasioned in this section thru the collapse of tobacco prices. For Graves county is the heaviest tobacco-producing county in all Kentucky, and hundreds of families are dependent upon this crop alone.

"It is the first example that has come to my notice," said Gov. Cox in his address at Mayfield Thursday morning, "of the ill effects of the peace pact wrangle. While congress has held up the pact and the League of Nations foreign exchange has tumbled and markets of the world are affected. Graves county's market is chiefly tobacco. The price has fallen from 25c to 11c and 12c simply because foreign buyers of the weed are off of this market and competition is not keen enough among American buyers to keep the price up where planters can afford to produce it. There can be no question but other communities are feeling it, too, and will for a long time to come."

Paducah had a warm welcome too, for the Ohio man, and here he met the old friends and relatives of Irwin Cobb Paducah is Cobb's birthplace, and they're proud of him. Again, as in Mayfield, large placards bearing the slogan "Cox the Country With Cox" greeted him upon all sides. After a roasting night meeting he repaired to a waiting train and was rushed to Henderson, arriving there early in the morning, in time for a breakfast and a breakfast auto ride across the river to Evansville and hundreds of handshakes that assured him he was in the midst of warm-hearted friends.

In his addresses here, as at Mayfield and Paducah, Gov. Cox dwelt at considerable length upon the great value to be had from closer attention to Americanization. He held his audiences in rapt attention when he declared the attempt of Republican leaders to muzzle the minds of the foreign-born element of this country declaring the same to be only a new form of waving the bloody shirt. And in each instance the audience did not stop at hand-clapping but resorted to lusty cheers when he declared:

"In the future we must have in this country one God, one flag and one language."

Gov. Cox brought another big delegation from across the Ohio river, and today a number of prominent Daviess county Democrats will join the governor for the ride of 113 miles up the Ohio river to Louisville. There it is expected one of the biggest audiences he has yet addressed in the entire state will be assembled at the Scottish Rite cathedral. He will spend Sunday as the guest of Hon. Johnson Camden his campaign manager for Kentucky, at the palatial Camden farm in Woodford county, heart of the bluegrass. A schedule which will take in one or two bluegrass towns is expected to be ready for him in one day. He is expected to reach Louisville, thought at present his plans are to reach home early in the week.

It has been a big treat for him, because it has brought him in touch with a different class of Kentuckians than he has met at any previous time. And yet, to use his own language, "they are no different from those in other sections of the state. They are hospitable and happy-hearted and possessed of that which is characteristic of every Kentuckian, every section of Kentucky—the ability to make a fellow feel at home."

HARMAN'S

MARKET AND ELIZABETH

Harman's Store In Spring Array

Few establishments offer the variety of lines the diversity of styles or the comprehensive assortments of high class merchandise to be found in the Harman Store. FORTY YEARS of catering to the buying public of Lima and its trading area, has enabled us to learn their tastes and desires. Constant and painstaking efforts in our buying has made it possible for us to bring to this store the choice of the world market's stores carry greater stocks. When Lima becomes a city of 100,000 we will carry more too—in the meantime come here often and get acquainted with this store and its methods. They're both clear (the store and the methods) you're always welcome.

Beautiful Furnishings for the Home

Why not? Can you think of anything more sensible to spend your money for? Our store is chock full of beautiful furniture and it's good furniture, too. Not the kind that's bought to sell at special sales, but good, well built high grade furniture. You'll find by comparing our prices on furniture that this is the place to get your money's worth. We have a spot cash price for the cash buyer and our price when sold in payments is far below that asked by installment stores—seeing is believing—Come and see for yourself.

Fancy Furniture and Odd Pieces

Pretty odd pieces of furniture are here in great variety. There is a scarcity but early buying has enabled us to be in prime condition at this time. Our showing of Tea Wagons in mahogany, walnut, golden and fumed oak will satisfy the most particular purchasers. Smoking stands, umbrella stands, Telephone Desks and Chairs to match, beautiful Colonial Rocking Chairs with cane seats and back. Wonderful line of high grade card tables, both square and round. There are so many novelties in our line that it's impossible to enumerate them, so come along and let us show you through, if you see something you like, all right, if there's nothing that appeals—you're welcome just the same.

DUNN IS HONORED BY RETAILERS

Elected President of State Association at Columbus.

B. B. Dunn, manager of the Deisel company and former president of the Lima Retail Merchants association, was elected president of the Ohio Retail Dry Goods association last week at the annual meeting of directors in Columbus.

By reason of the large mercantile interests represented on the board, the honor is regarded a signal one not only for Mr. Dunn but as a recognition of the efficient organization of Lima merchants. Some of the retail firms in the state are represented in the personnel of the board.

The directors are: Alfred Cooke, J. K. Miller Co., Dayton; R. T. Anderson, J. C. Cook Co., Toledo; J. H. Lutz, The Lazarus company, Columbus; H. S. Moorehouse, H. H. Moorehouse, Cleveland; E. D. Ames, R. K. Kunkel company, Dayton; R. J. Anderson, Anderson company, Portsmouth; J. T. Hanson, Mabley company, Cincinnati; James Crawford, the Crawford company, Detroit; J. Phillips, Phillips-Uhler company, Marion; W. Norvell, Norvell and Hartney, Chillicothe; and R. B. Dunn, Deisel company, Lima.

Besides Mr. Dunn as president, other officers of the association are: H. D. Ames, vice-president and Lynn Revenagh, manager of the Columbus Merchants association secretary-treasurer.

WOMAN SAYS SHE WAS COMPELLED TO ASSIST IN SUPPORTING HUSBAND

A divorce decree was granted, and other taken under advisement by Judge Klinger and one suit dismissed Saturday.

Mrs. Jennie Lamphar was divorced from Clyde C. Lamphar on the grounds of neglect and extreme cruelty. He must pay her $500 alimony. She was restored to her former name of Jennie E. Vorhees. She told the court that since last Christmas he had resided with another person. She declared she worked in a laundry and was forced to contribute to his support.

The case of William M. Bateson against Elita M. Bateson was heard by the court. Mrs. Bateson was not present to contest the case. Since October 13, last, she had refused to keep house, cook and wash for him, he says. They were married in November, 1889, and reared a family of three children. Judge Klinger withheld decision.

The divorce case of Emma Selgrath against Donald Selgrath, one of the proprietors of the Sanitary Garbage Company, filed on the grounds of cruelty and neglect, was settled out of court and dismissed.

TWO MEN FILE SUIT FOR DAMAGES AGAINST STEIN BROS. GROCERY

Judgment for $186 damages to their automobile and interference of work is sought by William M. Dalton and Edward J. Daugherty against Stein Brothers, grocers, in a suit heard Saturday in Justice J. H. Hamilton's court.

The damages asked grew out of an accident a week ago Saturday, when Walter Blank, driver of the Stein Brothers' grocery truck, collided with Dalton and Daugherty near the court house. They charge their automobile was damaged to the extent of $100 and they were kept from getting about to work to earn $10 a week each.

Mississippi Valley Association To Discuss Aerial Transportation

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Aerial transportation, especially as it applies to freight, was to be an important subject of discussion at the second annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association, which opened here today.

It was expected that proposals to develop commercial aviation would receive a decided impetus as the result of plans to be presented to the conference, which is being attended by leaders of finance, industry, the farm and mines education, economics, and all kinds of business of states in and adjacent to the Mississippi Valley or connected industrially with those states.

Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Montana and other states were well represented in the gathering.

The subject of taxation is to receive considerable attention. The convention is expected to formulate a programme looking toward amending the present tax laws, which the association will be asked to push thru congress, if possible. The association claims to represent about 3 per cent of the voting power in congress.

Other subjects vital to the development of these states to be discussed include transportation, reclamation and reforestation; commercial education in foreign trade; legislation, the Orient, South America, Central America and the West Indies agriculture and kindred subjects.

Mexico is to receive special attention especially as regards trade relations with that turbulent republic. In his opening address President Harry H. Merrick characterized the Mississippi Valley Association as "a council guarding the commercial, industrial, agricultural and economic life of the vast empire which produces in major portion the products of the fields, farm, mine, and factory of the nation."

The convention will last through tomorrow, when Baron Camillo Ronzoni Azzurro, Italian Ambassador to the United States, will deliver an address at a luncheon given by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Some other scheduled speakers are John M. Parker, Governor-elect of Louisiana; "Valley Marine Shipping," a committee of Commerce; Alexander Ho Campbell, president of the National Farmers' Association; A. D. Henschel, New Orleans exporter of coffee; authority, Admiral De Castro of Brazil, who will talk on "South American Trade," Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith, who will speak on "Greater Production," A. C. Elyre Noble, Ala., (subject, Central America and the West Indies); Julian Arnold, commercial attache U. S. Legation in China, subject "Orient and China as a Mississippi Valley Market;" Dr. David Hinkley, president of the University of Illinois; U. S. Senator A. B. Cummins, of Iowa; Charles F. Coffin, president of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce; and Edward J. Biggs, chairman of the World Trade Survey Committee.

LADIES! DARKEN
YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandmas Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody
Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for turning faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and active. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of Weth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get the very best preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

MEAT CAUSE OF
KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder
bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

HEROISM OF TAXI DRIVER SAVES CHILDREN IN RUNAWAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—"Movie picture" heroism was enacted in real life in Springfield today. Bud Fabrie, taxi driver, rescued Victor and Dorothy Horowitz children from a runaway horse and buggy. Others stood aghast as the mobbed car dashed along the street, while the children were seen huddled on the seat of the buggy. As the carriage was about to pass Fabrie he made a flying leap for the rear of the runaway and was just successful in grasping the end after which he pulled himself into the buggy. But he found the reins entangled. He was able to stop the frightened animal with the aid of the reins. The children climbed out on it flying back and forth the horse. It was a narrow escape. The railroad crossing was just ahead.

BLAMES SOLDIER DIVORCES ON LACK OF GOVT. BONUS

CINCINNATI—Most divorces in cases where American soldiers were and are due to the financial straits of the husband as a result of a lack of proper consideration during the period of reconstruction, and I don't think it is fair to blame the soldier for his financial difficulties. ## With Windows Removed

IN the Lex-Sedan you have a new adaptability which makes this closed car especially well suited to all-season use.

In summer, side members as well as side windows can be entirely removed, leaving a substantial roof to protect from sun or shower; yet with all the breezy openness of the touring car.

With this convenience is linked the exquisite harmony of design which comes of Lexington's unique handling of the body problem.

By building the body to fit the top, Lexington achieves the beauty and unity of the built-up type, yet saves unnecessary weight, prevents strains and twists and widens the car's touring range.

Still further advantages lie in the long list of Lexington chassis and motor improvements—such as the lighter, stronger Unified Frame, power increasing Lexi-gasifier and 2-Way No-Glare Head Lamps.

Let us tell you the Lex-Sedan's other desirable points.

Lex-Sedan, $2585; Touring Car, $2185; Thorobred (Sport Model), $2285; Sedanette, $3150; Coupe, $3150. All Series "S" models equipped with cord tires.

A Churchless Town!

No, not yours. You would not live there—if you could help it. You would not bring up your children there—if you could help it.

But other people cannot help it.

There are hundreds of towns in this Christian land—new towns, towns on the frontier, towns on the western plains—where there is no church and can be none unless you help build it.

These Are the Facts

Six out of every ten children in the United States never cross the threshold of a church or Sunday-school.

Sixty per cent of our children are without religious training. Think of it! Twenty-six million children.

How long do you think America can remain Christian under conditions like these?

It is up to somebody to bring about a change. If it is not your business, whose is it?

You cannot afford to evade the issue.

Between Now and Next Sunday—Quick

Northern Baptists must complete the raising of $100,000,000.

The New World Movement must go forward.

Of this fund, $75,000,000 will be spent within the borders of the United States. There will be churches in Churchless Town. There will be Sunday-schools for untrained children. New forces for Christian progress will be set at work throughout the land.

It is up to you to do something—this is the hour to do it

YOU who use 3 3/4 inch tires constitute more than half the tire buyers of the world.

To build this special molded 3 3/4 in. tire, a $7,000,000 factory was built and a special organization brought together.

OLD MONEY FOUND IN DENVER.

Currency 150 Years Old Discovered in Ancient Trunk

DENVER. — What is believed to be the oldest piece of United States currency extant has been unearthed here from an old trunk in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hittell, of this city.

The history of the currency which has been handed down thru several generations of the Hittell family dates back nearly 150 years to the time when American paper currency was first printed. It was known as "Continental money" and was printed shortly after 1770, following a act of Congress, which directly denied the British edict that colonial money should not be printed or signed, and that which was issued would not be accepted as legal tender.

Mrs. Hittell's ancestors were residents of Kentucky and the attitude that the money was less worthless was pronounced in that section than in any other part of the country. People in the South had faith that the money would be redeemable at its face value some day, and that is the reason for the Hittell family retaining some of the currency, instead of throwing it away as was done by people in other sections of the land.

The British, finding that their armies could accomplish little in checking the circulation of the "Continental," or "rag money," turned to the process of flooding the country with counterfeit currency as a means of making it useless. This method was entirely effective.

When all efforts by the Colonials to make the money valid were found futile, and the "rag money" was worth no more than the paper upon which it was printed, the residents of the little town in which the Hittell family lived held mock obsequies over the currency.

According to one story told, a grocer's store was plastered with the currency, and a horse was tarred, stuck over with the bills and led thru the village streets.

As a souvenir the Hittell family sold out a $20 bill, the one discovered in the old trunk here recently.

The printed words on the bill

"This bill entitles the bearer to receive thirty Spanish milled dollars of the value thereof in gold or silver according to a resolution passed at Baltimore."

The bill calls for Spanish milled dollars because at that time the Spanish dollar was the standard of value.

Yes, indeed, as Pershing says, no patriotic American can refuse the presidential nomination. In fact, few will get the chance.

Preference for Buick Valve-in-Head motor cars becomes more pronounced each season—and this favoritism shown by the motor car purchaser of today has taxed the Buick factory's production to the limit.

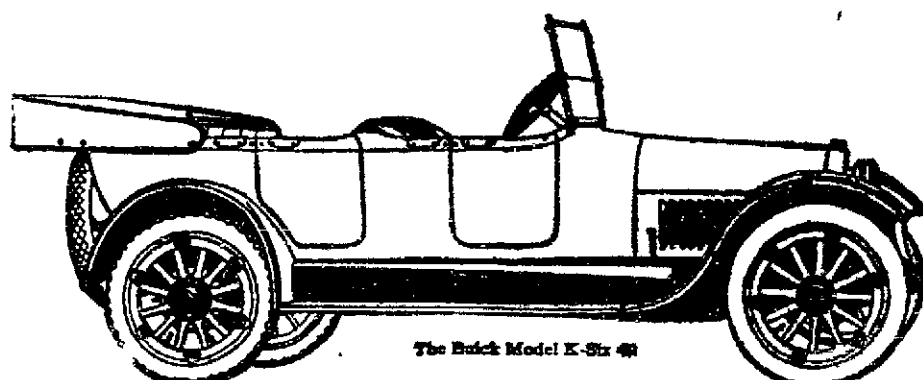

Thousands are contented to await their turn in Buick deliveries—for Buick performance, quality, service and economy has completely won their confidence.

The five hundred thousand Buick cars now in daily operation are making Buick history. Their efficiency, faithfulness and value have established this fact in the minds of the world—"there is no substitute" for Buick Valve-in-Head quality and service.

CHALMERS

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn Solve a Serious Problem

THOSE who understand motor cars know that the prevailing weakness is the inability of the various engines to deliver satisfactory results from gasoline. Gas has gone down and down in grade and engines have not been redesigned to meet the lower grade of fuel.

Chalmers engineers were first to supply the answer to this serious problem. They devised the Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

The raw "gas," too heavy for the carburetor to vaporize it properly, strikes the Hot Spot, and the result is much like a drop of water falling on the top of a red-hot stove.

Thus the heavy "gas" is turned into a "dry cloud" and before it has the slightest chance to revert to "mist" it is rushed via the Ram's-horn manifold into the cylinders.

As the spark plugs touch off this finely vaporized fuel you get instantaneous combustion and maximum power.

You get smoothness, the absence of vibration and the consequent saving in repair bills from burned bearings, scored cylinders, fouled spark plugs and many troubles that are all traceable back to the inferior "gas" of the day.

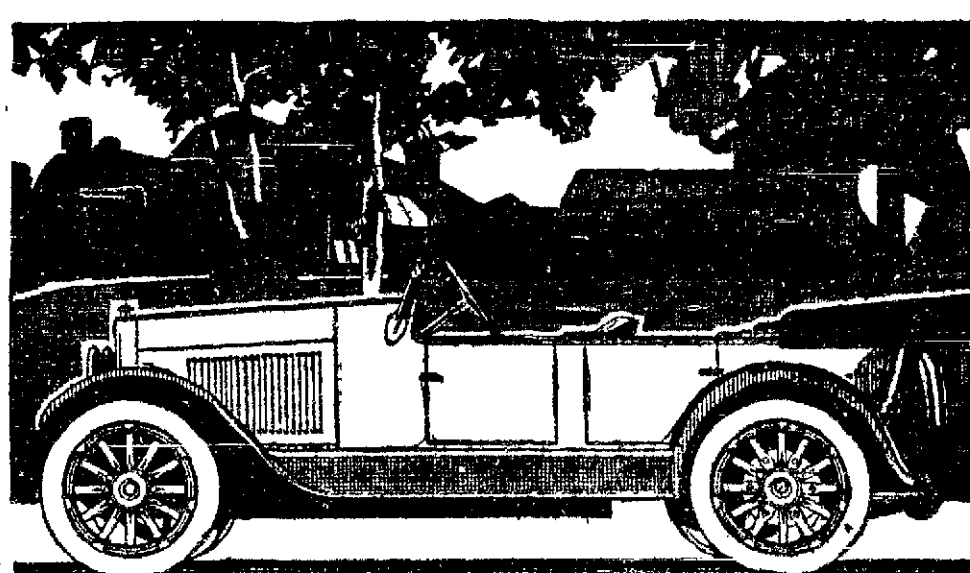

Ride in a Chalmers and you, too, will say that it is one of the few great cars of the day.

-BOOK II.—FIND THE WOMAN

Conspiracies can be more safely carried on and plans laid with less fear of detection in the broad and open light of day than in the secret shadows of the night. They can never conspire except on paper, almost invariably place them. There was no place so convenient, so free from suspicion, for discussing such matters as the office of a senator, even as any great hotel, especially as the senator of high reputation had before him, a roomy study and a telephone even."

He himself sat where he could see the door and a portion of the hall. He turned his back to the light. The Florida driver was sitting near him. The Secret Service agent breathed a sigh of relief and set himself to listen. # SHOP LEAGUE TEAMS IN MAY 1 PARADE

Contending that an American Day would be more complete with representatives of the great American pastime participating heads of the industrial league have arranged with officials of the American legion to take part in the American Day parade here May 1.

John Malloy, leader of the baseball activities of the Lima Locomotive Works, Saturday said that the Legion has consented to the teams joining on the occasion and that ballplayers for the Lima Locomotive Works, Deisel-Wemmer and probably several other factories in the league will be in the parade.

The ball players will be in diamond togs, Malloy says. They will move with the ex-soldiers thru a greater part of the march and then parade in the city park grounds, where the first official ball game of the Industrial league season will be played, between the Deisel-Wemmer teams and the Locos.

"Every member of the Locomotive team will be in the parade," Malloy says. The Deisel-Wemmer company will also turn out its ball players in full force.

The opening game of the season between the cigar makers and the Locos will be an exhibition affair and will not be accounted in the standing of the Industrial league, Malloy says.

Captains of the clubs announce that their respective nines will be in top form for the clash and that indications point to mid-season ball being on the program.

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS BALL TEAM WINS FIRST GAME

Stiff joint and sore arms probably will be in order today but members of the Lima Locomotive ball team believe that they are repaid by the inconvenience by the 8 to 5 win scored over Whittaker's specials on Saturday's game at the city park grounds.

The Locos played rare ball for this early in the season and the musing up infield chances in typical straining camp style Malloy's outfit looks promising.

Whittaker's specials, a picked up group of pastimers, played fairly good ball but were rather baffled by the shoots of Williams, the Loco hurler.

MAYOR WILL START IMPROVEMENT AT CITY LOT

Mayor Burkhardt and Service Director McClain Saturday conducted a personnel investigation of the city park grounds and the finding the park in fair playing condition the city officials stated that improvement to make the diamond the best in the city would be started next week.

Both the infield and outfield will be included in the improvements. Burkhardt has informed Industrial league backers.

Following announcement of city officials that the grounds would be put in shape bosses of the shop league state that work on erection of backstops at the park will be started next week. The stand will be built to accommodate a fairly large number of fans; the Industrial league will also finance erection of a backstop at the city grounds.

YALE SCORES DOUBLE VICTORY OVER COLUMBIA

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Yale scored a double victory Saturday afternoon when her varsity and junior crews triumphed over Columbia in their annual regatta.

The Yale varsity eight won by one and one-half lengths after a hard battle with the New Yorkers. The time of the winning crew was ten minutes and seven seconds and the losers ten minutes and 13 seconds.

Columbia put up a bitter fight in the junior event. Yale won the race but only by a half length in 10:21.45 with Columbia 10:23.45.

VOTE FOR THIS

There is to be a bond issue for a new bridge connecting the Spencer-ville-rd and W. Kibby-st. This will give South Lima residents direct connections with Woodlawn cemetery and the Faurot Park, and also connects the Spencer-ville-rd with the Dixie Highway at Metcalf and makes a main thoroughfare connecting the Spencer-ville-rd and the Marion and Bellefontaine-rds by way of Kibby-st. This is a progressive proposition and means progress in Lima. Vote for it.

Case of Mr. W. C.

Mr. W. C., Lima, Ohio, age 50, came to my office on March 19th very weak and nervous, and in an exhausted condition from two months' intense suffering from sciatic rheumatism and lumbago. Had treated constantly all this time without relief.

MARCH 20th, dose of "Special Blood" treatment given, within two or three days pain easing up and by the end of a week was feeling comfortable and getting his natural sleep. And when time was up to take his second dose, said it was no use to take more as the first dose had cured him. We know he should have at least two more doses for a permanent result, but when the patient decides that he knows better than his doctor there is nothing to do but let him go his way. The results of this one dose was beyond expectations. This patient will gladly verify this report.

Like results can be expected in a large list of chronic diseases, such as Bronchial Asthma, Gout, Rheumatism, Skin, Blood, Nerve, and Glandular diseases.

LIMA INDEPENDENTS PLAY FIRST BALL GAME OF SEASON WITH DAYTON ORGANIZATION

Some real baseball should be on deck at Murphy-st grounds in the opening appearance of the Lima Independents Sunday May 9.

For the opening card Bernie Halloran, manager of the Independent, has lined up the Dayton Americans of Gem City fans.

Such a booking for the first of the season naturally would indicate that mid-season ball will be on tap here from the first going if the previous record of the Dayton team can be taken as a criterion of their strength this season.

The Americans during the 1919 season, with a classy collection of ball players, established a record which went far to give them a high rating among the amateur baseball teams of Ohio and this part of the country.

Local fans will remember the Americans as the team which met Lima on several occasions last year and which by the way had a little of the best of the arguments.

Members of the Dayton team this season are unknown here but under the same management as last season.

The Gem City lads will have a crack-jack outfit on deck, Halloran believes.

Halloran is now in communication with the Dayton management and early this week is expecting a complete line of dope on the lineup of the team.

As yet the Lima lineup is very indefinite and players expected to return contracts this season have not yet forwarded the documents.

Little difficulty in lining up a crack-jack team is anticipated by Halloran and the pilot says that he will have a good ball club on the field to meet the Daytonites.

Marty Becker who had been counted on by Halloran as a certainty for the third base job has taken up the management of a Springfield, Mass. club and will not be seen at Murphy park this year.

The pitching problem has not yet been solved by Halloran and from present indications securing men for slab duty will be the toughest of the present problems.

Main who worked for the locals last season has signed with Bloomington of the Three Eye league and hopes of again securing this popular flinger for the coming year have been abandoned.

Baseball fans of Tiffin has highly recommended a hurler named Malloy to Halloran and the larkin lad will be given a chance to show his wares here. Malloy, the Tiffin information says, is still able to shoot them across in fine fashion and will be able to win some ball games for the local club.

Bauerline, another Tiffinite, will be out for the regular catching job here. This individual is highly recommended by Marty Becker. He is said to have had league experience.

On recommendation of Bluffton fans, Halloran will try out a young long boy, Henry by name. Henry it is said ranges near six feet in height and is a strong as he is long.

Candidates for all positions will be given the first once over this afternoon at Murphy park. In addition to several out-of-town candidates who are expected out Halloran announced that a large number of local men will be on hand. The practice will start at two o'clock.

Jack Lawler, the Memphis light-weight, who beat Benny Valger recently, goes right on winning. Lawler's latest victory was a three round knockout of Chris Burkhardt of New Orleans. Lawler is a wildcat in action. He allows his opponent no rest from the moment the gong sounds until it is all over. He is only twenty years of age and is improving fast. This is shown by the fact that in previous bouts Burkhardt had been able to get a draw with him.

Short Shavings

The gob was on shore leave and happy because he had found a girl as affectionate as he. His joy was dimmed, however, for a bluecoat had forbidden spooning in the park and his girl taboored it in the streets. But life took a new turn when he saw a man kiss his wife farewell in front of the Pennsylvania station, New York. He rushed his girl toward a crowd hurrying toward the Philadelphia express and bade her a fond farewell. When the crowd thinned they joined a throng for Washington and repeated the act. They repeated it again before the Chicago train.

This was too much for a colored porter who had been watching. He stepped up to the gob. "Boss," he said, "why don't you go downstairs and try the Long Island station? Dem trains am a-savin' most all dis time."

Professor C. F. Sinclair, as he was explaining new problems to some pupils of South High Thursday suddenly asked, "How do we buy eggs?"

Glenn Sellers: "By the dozen."

Mr. Sinclair: "Correct, now how do we buy potatoes?"

Henry Apple: "Three for a quarter."

Apparently poverty-stricken, save for the blushing bride at his elbow, the newly made bridegroom asked the magistrate the charges for having tied the nuptial knot. The judge, regarding him with sympathy and compassion, said, "Two dollars and a half, friend."

The gamin extracted a roll that would have taxed the contract muscles of a mule's throat. The eyes of the judge bulged, but he thought quickly and added the single word, "Each."

"Rattlesnake Bill" is strangely altered. What's the trouble?"

"Bill says if he had known what was before him when he went into the movies he would have stuck to train robbing and kept his self respect. In the old days no man ever talked to him the way the director does and lived to tell the tale."

OVERLANDS

Automobile factories all over the country are shut down on account of the big railroad strike and it will probably be several weeks before the factories are back to normal production. Foreseeing this condition we had a force of men on the road to Toledo within an hour after the strike was declared and during the next two or three days, while the factory was still building cars and was unable to ship any of them, we brought down drive away after drive away until we had 122 cars in stock. Half of these are already gone and with business during the past seven weeks the largest in our history this stock will not last long.

Month of May Promises Much for Society

Heralded by birds and blossoms of riotous color, spring has at last arrived, attended by its vast heritage of sunshine, greenery and fragrant atmosphere. Altho late in appearance, the season leaves nothing to be desired, with trees already bursting into bloom and a carpet of emerald green springing up among the decay.

The long-looked-forward-to season has and an unusual struggle with the winter, especially with several cold days of the last week.

The coming week which is the zenith of April holds only a few social affairs for the pleasure-loving. Wednesday will be marked by several weddings. Miss Kathleen Corcoran will become the bride of Edward Johnston, New Orleans, at St. Rose Catholic church and Miss Mae Hennegess and Thomas Hughes, Peru, Ind., will be united in marriage at the St. Gerard church.

A wedding on Thursday will be that of Miss Euella Higgins and Dennis O'Connell, Perryville. The ceremony will be at 8 o'clock at St. Rose church.

May holds promises of a diversified program. The annual May Day breakfast will be the first elaborate affair of the month which falls on Saturday of this week. The dining room at Trinity church will be a bower of apple blossoms and spring flowers, Mrs. C. E. Schell being in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. E. J. Curtis has planned an interesting program for the occasion. Mr. Ralph Leete will be in charge of the dining room. Already a number of clubs have reserved tables for the affair and it is expected that more than 500 will attend.

A rare opportunity will be afforded the people of Lima to see a very distinctive art exhibition which will be given by the Art club of the Lima Central school during the latter part of May. The exhibition will consist of a loan of thirty oil paintings from the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City.

The list of artists represented stamps the collection as one of great value and of unusual interest. In the exhibition will be the original work by such men as: George Inness, Thomas Cole, Daubigny, Boldini, Stevens, Vollon, Detaille, Gerome, Henner, and others equally well known.

It will be remembered that last season the Art club of the Central High school brought here an exhibition by the American Water Color society of New York. It was so well patronized that the club has been encouraged to offer the public something even finer.

Another interesting event of May will be the appearance of the Adolph Bolm Ballet Intime and The Little Symphony on May 10th at the Memorial Hall under the auspices of the Women's Music club. This attraction and the program will offer the widest kind of diversity. There are dances representative of ages and many countries.

Adolph Bolm is declared the greatest Russian ballet dancer of the day and was the first to take a dance company out of Russia. George Barriete, director of the Little Symphony orchestra, is reputed as among the foremost of living flutists and delighted Limaites last season when he appeared here with the Pavlova Russian Ballet.

"And Home Came Ted" the Junior play to be given April 30th at the High School auditorium, is a sprightly comedy of mystery and pure fun. The action occurs at the Rip Van Winkle Inn, Catskill mountains. The plot is based on the struggle for supremacy of a furniture factory between Ted, the rightful heir, and Ita Stone, an unscrupulous adventurer who is trying to gain control of the business. There is a Mr. Man, a mystery and an engineer. There is an old maid, who the real Ted loved in younger days; Diana Garwood, as heiress, and a widow from Honolulu. Also there is Skeet Kelly, the hotel clerk who reads people quite cleverly.

The cast is as follows: Skeet Kelly, Raymond Kahle; Diana Garwood, Isabel Glentzer; Miss Loganberry, Alice Beary; Ita Stone, Harry Kleinberger; Aunt Jubilee, James Barr; Mr. Man, John Davidson; Jim Ryker, James Weadock; Mollie Mocklin, Hele Sidenour; Henrietta Darby, Dorothy Frankie; Ted, Turpin Bannister; Elsie Janet White; and Senator McCorkle, Royal Albright.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Clapper, Rice-ave, delightfully entertained a circle of friends with a dancing party at their home on Wednesday evening. The living room was made attractive with bowls of tulips and spring flowers. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Croteria Ensign.

The North Division of the Ladies Aid society of the Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. G. F. Scheufler, 968 Rice-ave.

DOLLY SISTERS TO DANCE IN LONDON

Janet (left) and Rosika Dolly on board ship ready to sail. The famous Dolly sisters, whose dancing and clever acting have made them famous in the U. S., and who have been writing special features for The News' women readers, are now seeking new worlds to conquer. They have sailed for London to star in a production at the Hippodrome.

Mrs. O. L. Wallburg, E. Wayne-st, welcomed the members of the Ponsetta club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. In a clever contest Mrs. F. G. Weagley and Mrs. Ada Dempster were successful. Social chat and needlework were enjoyed and at 4 o'clock the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Edward Humbert, Holmes-ave, will be hostess to the club in a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Cox, Hughes-ave, are announcing the arrival of an eight pound daughter, born Friday, April 23rd.

Mrs. H. Swaney has returned to her home on N. Park-ave, after spending several days with her brother, E. E. Taylor, Lakeview.

Mrs. George Overholtz will return to her home in Tiffin on Sunday, after a pleasant visit with her mother, Mrs. Grant Biner, S. Elizabeth-st.

Miss Clara Tangeman, instructor of Household Art at the Central High school, entertained a number of her students at a 4 o'clock dinner Thursday evening at the Central High school building. The dinner was prepared by the students themselves. The centerpiece of the table was of roses and dainty hand tinted place cards of pink marked each place.

Covers were laid for: Misses Pauline Grenean, Hilda Nelson, Marjorie Pearse, Martha Mannon Rowenna Lamb, Mary Harruff, Kathryn Scoles, Lovel Bowsher, Edna Conrad Rhea Wampler, Cecil Leedy, Lucille Moyer and Miss Tangeman.

Miss Leola Bowsher, 123 Circular-st, will be hostess to the members of the Lark club at her home on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. F. Snyder, E. Pearl-st and Mrs. O. L. Wallburg, E. Wayne-st, are home from Cincinnati, where they spent several days with friends.

The bride was charming in a creation of Ivory satin, with a veil of tulle which was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor wore a frock of blue taffeta with a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out. Covers were laid for thirty-six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Foley left for a trip thru the south and upon their return will be at home to their many friends at 861 N. Main-st.

Mrs. Ruth Kerr Hyter, S. Pierce-st. was given a most delightful surprise on Thursday evening when she was called to the home of her mother, Mrs. John Kerr, W. Market-st. where she found gathered the members of her

GOOD

Don't take the chance of wasting your time and garden space with uncertain plants. Plants grown from pure especially selected seeds, properly transplanted and hardened off will yield from 25 percent to 300 percent greater than impure amateur-grown plants. Thousands of home-gardeners every year make the mistake of setting out this sort of plants and then wonder why they don't have crops like their neighbor. Rolf Zetlitz Co. this year at their Bellefontaine Ave. house, opposite the Driving Park are growing more than a million vegetable plants for both the wholesale and retail trade. These plants are grown from the purest seeds obtainable and transplanted one or more times before sold. Don't take chances, Zetlitz's boxes are all labeled with guaranteed variety.

LEAN THEATRICAL WEEK IN GOTHAM

Two or Three Plays Produced Were Revivals in Stagecraft

REVIEW OF THE RIALTO

"The Bonehead" Proved To Be a Flat Failure

By DIXIE HINES
NEW YORK.—The leanest theatrical week of the season has just passed into history. Two of the three plays produced were revivals and they represent the two extremes in stagecraft. Rachel Barton Butler staged "Alice in Wonderland" for the first of her children's theatre repertoire, and Arthur Hopkins revived Gorki's sordid but powerful "Night Lodging." "The Bonehead" was the new production.
"The Bonehead" was a wasted effort. Claude Boerholm acted one of the leading roles and "doubled" as the producer. Frederick Arnold Kummer, who ought to know better, wrote it. It alleges to be a travesty of Greenwich Village life, and beyond the confines of Manhattan Island it may be taken as a true representation of the informal domestic existence of those who reside on lower Manhattan. In point of fact of fact if they lived as they are represented, they would die of ennui. In point of fact the whole thing is raw, crude and unpalatable while the cast, although containing the names of many excellent players was unable to do anything with the material supplied by the playwright, with the result that it was a dire affair indeed. Mr. Boerholm admits that he is a son of the late Boerholm, and it is highly commendable of him to hold this production until it was too late for his lamented father to weep with those who sat it out.

Arthur Hopkins has given to "Night Lodging" by Maxim Korki, an atmospheric production, which means that he has taken the sordid, hopeless plot and made it even more so. There is no gleam of hope, or relief of happiness in this drama of the dregs of society, and except for the gripping acting by the cast, and the powerful effectiveness of the settings, there is little to make a public appeal. Mr. Hopkins evidently has faith in the play because he produced it some time since for matinee purposes and has now placed it as a regular bill in the Plymouth Theatre, made famous by the lamentable illness of John Barrymore, who has been obliged to bring his engagement in "Richard III" to a temporary termination.

The bright spot of the week was the revival of that ever popular "Alice in Wonderland," arranged by Rachel Barton Butler for her Children's Theatre which has been successfully launched by herself and Boyd Agh. Mabel Taliaferro acted the role of Alice charmingly and Elizabeth Patterson, Boy Agh, Vernon Shannon, Walter Barton and others contributed to the safety of the performance which won the hearts of their juvenile audience to such an extent that the demand became insistent for a continuance. Miss Butler has stressed the humor in this play, and arranged her plot in an amusing sequence. The acting was skilful and efficient, and the first of her children's theatre repertoire encourages us to hope that those which follow may be as successful which will mean complete success.

Nancy Van Kirk, who is also a bright particular worker in this children's theatre field, operates on an equally interesting and quite different line. Her "Children's Hour of Song and Story," which has been tried out at the fashionable hotels, will be included in a permanent series to be given at the Lenox Theatre. Miss Van Kirk's idea is as original as it is clever. She presents herself in costume to her audience and tells in song and story the interesting events of Puritan, Colonial and Civil War days, and also impersonates as to character and custom the picturesque people of our own and other countries. It is a diverting entertainment that she offers, and her success implies the need of this form of entertainment to bring the children's theatre in cities other than New York, to perfection.

"The Passion Flower," which is now the reigning dramatic success of the present season in New York, will terminate its local engagement in about four weeks, after which it will make an extensive tour to the Pacific Coast. Richard C. Herndon is the producer of this play in which Nance O'Neill acts the leading role, and in announcing plans for next season Mr. Herndon's name is associated with some remarkably interesting and highly original dramatic productions. Other plays from the same source as "The Passion Flower" are included in this program.

New York enjoys theatres devoted to nearly every form of entertainment. The latest being a playhouse where regular circus freaks may display themselves within the hallowed sacred theatrical precincts of the Rialto. Grace Griswold, who has written, acted and produced many plays of unusual merit, will be the dominant influence in a series of performances with one act plays as magnet within a few weeks, and if this test is successful she will seek to establish here a playhouse where only one act plays may be presented. Giacomo's "The Right of Soul," Lois Perkins' farce "Reaction" and Miss Griswold's "The Haunted Chamber" will form the first bill.

Lubovska, one of the best dancers in the United States, holds the stage this week with her farewell dance recital at the Greenwich Village Theatre. She presents an entirely new group of dances, but holds her most noted creation, "The Egyptian Dance of Mourning," which she has danced more than 1500 times in the city of New York alone.

Hear it on a Brunswick.

H. P. MAUS
PIANO HOUSE

Elsie Janis and some of "her gang" coming to the Faurot next Saturday in "A Bomb-Proof Revue".

Sweetheart Of A. E. F. To Appear At Faurot

No one will gainsay that Elsie Janis, who brings her revue to the Faurot Opera House, Saturday, May 1st, is a pretty smart woman. She has been on the stage for a great many years, beginning in vaudeville as many of the present-day stars have, and today she is at the head of her own company, which is the best argument that she knows of, for a thing or two about business as well as impersonations, dancing and singing. "The sweetheart of the A. E. F.," as she is affectionately referred to by some 2,000,000 ex-soldiers, a little she won in the service of her country just as much as the boys in the front-line trenches won their service bars, is recognized today as one of the foremost women of the American stage.

When Miss Janis returned from overseas when the armistice had been signed, she was perhaps the greatest star in the theatrical horizon. From the standpoint of box-office returns, with two years' publicity and the support of the whole U. S. Army assured her, in itself an audience of millions, she was the money-making star of all stars at the moment. Any manager in New York would have offered her any amount to sign a contract; she could have had the biggest, the most extravagant revue ever organized. In fact, she could have written her own ticket, as they say in theatrical parlance.

Miss Janis knew that the American people, prone to forget overthe "rainy day," the day when she will put the footlights behind her. But one can not see her performance without suspecting that she is just as happy with "her gang" now as she was when she entertained them on the war-swept fields of France, and whether the little show supported itself or not, she would still be doing it for the love of the thing. That is Elsie Janis, sweet, lovable, sincere, a real artist.

"SEE-SAW" COMING
At the Faurot Opera House Tuesday, May 4th for one night only. Henry W. Savage will offer his latest musical comedy hit "See-Saw," straight from its New York and Chicago runs, with the same cast and production.

This latest musical comedy, bearing the Savage stamp is unique in that it possesses real plot, furnished by Earl Derr Biggers, who also supplied the lyrics. Louis A. Hirsch composed the score of "Going Up" is responsible for the excellent music.

The cast includes Dorothea Mackaye, Frank Carter, Jeanette Lowrie, Charles Brown, Mabel Bunney, Charles Mackins, Majorie Edwards, Guy Robertson, Beatrice Collette, George Barber, Dorothy Gilbert, Charles Esdale, J. Paul Callan, Hamilton Mott, Harry Quealey, Byron Hallstead and a host of pretty girls.

VAUDEVILLE — Brindamour, rival of Harry Houdini and who has entertained completely everyone who has attended the Orpheum since the matinee Thursday will conclude his engagement at that placehouse at the matinee this afternoon and the two shows tonight. In addition to the six acts of vaudeville there will be shown at the Orpheum today and this evening only, a six-reel first-run photoplay, "The Midnight Bride" starring Gladys Leslie.

In addition to Brindamour, who has proved one of the best attractions at the Orpheum this season, the vaudeville bill concluding its engagement tonight consists of Honeyuckle and Violet Lorraine, "The Quintessence of Love," Lorraine and Leslie, in "Tantalus," Mann and Mallory, "Artistic Oddities," Harry J. Webb, "The Party from Dixie," Blackface comedy, The Calberts, "America's Most Ingenious Athletes."

The season's supreme novelty, the Potpourri Company, will be the head-line attraction on the six act vaudeville program for the first half of this week starting at the matinee Monday. Two beautiful girls, two clever men, forty trained birds and trick animals make up the offering. "A Little Bit of Everything" in the line of amusement is presented. The act is staged in gorgeous scenic and electrical effects. It should prove an extraordinary drawing card.

Masters and Kraft are an extra added attraction for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. They are conscious of exceptional ability. They come to Lima direct from the celebrated Majestic theatre of Chicago. "Hey, Rube!" their own original comedy skit, will be presented.

Other acts opening at the Orpheum Monday will be Lee and Bennett, in a brand new act of song, dance and patter, the Merriman Sisters, two pretty girls, in song, dance and xylophone selection; Chamberlain and Earle, in a refreshing parcel of nonsense; Kartell, King of the Wire.

GOMER

The High School Entertainment given Thursday and Friday evening was a decided success. The house was crowded both evenings. Much credit should be given Miss Marie Miller, the competent principal, and Prof. Ambrose Brees, supervisor of music, for such a splendid rendition of "Bulbul," a comic opera by Rhyas Herbert.

Rev. Jones, the Congregational minister, is at Venedocia today, taking part in the conference there.

John Thomas, who resided in this community for about 60 years, died April 20, at the ripe age of 93 years. He was a Civil War veteran. Funeral services were conducted, April 22.

Red Blood for Pale People!

A big supply of red blood corpuscles is what helps to make any man or woman have a healthy, pink complexion and cherry red lips. Resort to pills and powder are totally unnecessary and besides that, are harmful. Three-grain arsenic tablets, if used regularly for several months, seem to create a fairly added number of millions of red and white corpuscles of the blood and not only improve the color, but add increased flesh to the thin, anemic body. These tablets promote absorption, digestion and this splendid aid to nature's forces brightens the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians, and are of a perfectly harmless character. Self-administration is being followed by many who obtain them direct from any well-stocked apothecary shop.

And the pound away will dwindle—Waist no longer like a zone; Thou'lt be thankful to the maker Of those Tablets Arbolone.

Note—This little poem was written by a literary woman of Los Angeles, Calif., as a testimonial to Tablets Arbolone. It so aptly and truthfully describes the virtues of this well-known anti-fat that the proprietors use it for advertising. Facts and gratitude are both expressed with admirable rhythm and metre.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

MOST American school pupils about this time of year begin looking forward with dread to that period of storm which precedes the calm of summer vacation—the season of final exams.

To all those who are approaching that time with fear and trembling, the following sentences from a school survey report just issued by the United States bureau of education should prove a source of consolation and encouragement:

"That the formal examination is no criterion for determining ability is a conclusion abundantly supported by an examination of the school careers of men who have become famous. For example, Thomas A. Edison never could pass his school examinations, and when his teacher reported that it was a waste of time for him to attend school he was taken out and never returned. Charles W. Elliot, while president of Harvard University, once remarked that he would not have been able to pass the entrance examinations of his own university. Henry Ward Beecher stood sixty-fourth in an examination in grammar, while the boy who ranked first became a barber in a southern city."

Formal examinations in many, if not most, schools form the basis of grading pupils. They are, however, rapidly falling into disrepute among educational experts and rightly so. The government report from which the above quotation is taken declares that such examinations, while having a definite place in school work, are a poor basis for determining a student's fitness for promotion.

The chief indictments against final exams are: they lead to "cramping"; they produce undue worry and nervousness; they encourage a pupil to work towards one aim—passing; they put a premium on mere memorizing instead of understanding and learning; and they lead to a large amount of unnecessary work on the part of the teachers in reading papers, making out reports and keeping records.

"A system which is dominated by the formal examinations will inevitably stress memory work, and thereby to a dangerous degree teaching tends to become formal and mechanical and not truly educative," the government's experts say.

Every parent, teacher and school official may well consider these statements. Children in school should learn, not just pass. They should develop their ability to think and reason and not simply cram their memories with easily-forgotten facts.

MILK EXPORTS

MORE than $72,000,000 worth of milk was shipped out of the United States during 1918. This is a rather surprising item, but the $51,000,000—milk didn't curdle. It was shipped dry. Our condensaries have a pretty fair business with our neighbors across the sea. They have come to depend upon us to a great extent for their milk and indications are that the exports this year will break all records.

CONFIDENCE

To be as truly successful must not a municipal administration enjoy the confidence of the people? Yes that is the trouble with most city administrations now. Large groups feel they are not represented and that the municipal administration is more responsive to political party leaders than to the citizenry. That's a situation which adoption of the City Manager Plan will remedy. Wherever it has been installed, two things are noticeable—its responsiveness to the will of the people and the confidence which the people have in it.

THE BOND ISSUES

VOTERS, both city and county, will be called upon to pass on bond issues for public improvements at the primary Tuesday. Most of the bonds are for the city of Lima, but an issue of $165,000 will be presented by the county commissioners for bridges. The bonds in the city are for river improvements, bridges and adding machinery at the city pumping station to develop electricity for lighting purposes.

The county issues are deserving of the support of the voters. The money will be used for bridges on main roads and are essential.

The issues in the city with the exception of the one for adding powerhouse equipment to the pumping station should be popular and receive hearty support of the voters. It is essential that the river improvements be completed. The money from the bonds will be used for building retaining walls which are necessary to prevent the city being made liable for damage to private property along the river where the widening was recently finished.

The two bridges which will be erected if the bonds carry are on Elm-st and North-st. Both of the old structures are condemned and dangerous. The condition on E. North-st is alarming. A condemned bridge which experts say should not be used must be crossed and a detour then made over private property around the dilapidated bridge over the quarry pit east of the river bridge.

The issue for electrical machinery is proposed as a club over the Ohio Electric. Council is asking the public to vote the money so that machinery may be installed if there is difficulty in coming to terms on franchises now pending. It will be an expensive matter with no assurance that the money is needed since there are no indications that the Ohio Electric under the new management proposes a holdup of the city or anything except fair business dealing. The money cannot be used for anything else after the bonds are issued and with the high rate of interest which must be paid today, it will be an unnecessary burden upon the taxpayers.

Under no circumstances can the Ohio Electric shut off current here, this matter being taken care of in the Miller act, passed a year ago by the Ohio Assembly. This law requires that utilities make application to the utilities commission and advertise the fact that it desires to discontinue operation. There is no danger of Lima being without lighting and power current thru the company closing down its plant.

WHERE IS IT LEADING?

MANY months after the war ended the government of this nation is spending money at the rate of more than seven billion dollars a year. At the same time a deficit of between three and four billion dollars a year is being piled up. It is financial madness for this practice to be continued. Much of the high cost of living originates with the high cost of government. There must be a check on the indiscriminate pouring out of money, the public's money, and the check must be put into operation very soon. The nation cannot continue its extravagance without most serious results.

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS

By JANE PHELPS

Robert's Friends Take a Hand

Robert was moody, silent, and disagreeable much of the time. He hated his work, the inferior quality of the goods he was asked to sell the small business men's methods; and lastly the way he, as well as the rest of the help, was treated.

"One would think I had just commenced to work," he grumbled. "Burch seems to think his clerks can play bundle boys, do errands, or any other old thing!"

"Perhaps he feels he can't afford to do differently. 'Large oaks from little acorns grow,' you know," I quoted, laughing a little because Robert looked so lugubrious. But I really felt more like crying. "I suppose Caiding and the other big stores had to start sometime in a small way."

"Talking that way doesn't make being treated like a lackey any easier!" Robert snapped, then begged my pardon.

"I don't know what ails me, Gertrude! Honest, I try to keep my temper, but everything seems to rub me the wrong way. I am sorry I spoke so cross to you. You deserve better from me."

He spoke so humbly and looked so distressed that I made very light of his growling, and laughed at him for a silly goose to care what he did so long as he had to spend the time.

"I never care what I have to do," I told him. "Madame pays me for the time I spend in the shop. And it really makes no real difference whether I trim the window or sell hats. My time is hers."

"I don't see it that way at all," I said.

am hired to sell goods, not to play around boy."

"But if there are no customers, and other things need to be done?" "That makes no difference," he said, so impatiently that I stopped arguing, altho I couldn't stop thinking of his own importance, and that perhaps if Robert had less more interest in his work he would get along better.

Betty Weed gave another little party about this time. She said she gave it so we could all rejoice together over Robert's recovery. So many had been killed with automobiles and so many permanently injured that she said it was only fair to have a party for Robert.

I know it was only an excuse to cheer him up. I had met Frank on my way home from the shop, and had told him that Bob was depressed and blue.

"We'll have to do something to wake him," he had replied. "You know that conditions grow on a fellow if he gives way to it. And really, poor old Bob has had it pretty rough lately."

"I know it, Frank. I—for the first time I had felt an inclination to speak of Robert and his failure in business to someone besides Mary Ryan. But I caught myself just in time. There was nothing Frank could do. Why tell him?"

"What were you about to say, Gertrude?"

"Oh, nothing! But Bob really needs cheering up. His accident kept him in the house so long, he isn't quite himself even yet. And then the loss of his position because of his enforced absence, the position with such a different type of man, has combined to make him unhappy."

"Was that the reason he lost his position with Burch? I didn't think they would do a thing like that. It's

I felt my face flush, and yet I could not say anything to disabuse Frank's mind of the idea that Burch and Company had been unkindly with-out letting him see that Robert was to blame. So I said nothing, while he continued to say strange things about that firm. When he left me he said: "Betty and I will get our heads together and see if we can't cheer Robert up a little. That was a low down trick that firm played on him." Tomorrow—Invitations.

To the Democratic Voters of Allen County:

In the contest for the election of delegates to the Democratic National Convention, circumstances do not permit the making of a personal canvass. Therefore, I take this method of bringing my candidacy to your attention.

You have in the past greatly honored me in electing me to represent you in Congress, for all of which I shall always be duly grateful. Out of that service has grown a most natural desire to continue to serve the Democratic Party, not as an office holder, but as an active participant in the councils of the Party so as to contribute, if possible, to its future success.

In this state as elsewhere, delegations are customarily conferred upon active Democrats who have had experience in Governmental affairs, and through it have acquired a wide acquaintance throughout the country. In these circumstances, I trust that I will not be regarded as immodest in saying that I would welcome an opportunity to represent this great district in the San Francisco Convention, and therefore take the liberty of soliciting your vote and support.

Governor James M. Cox is Ohio's choice for President. If I am elected, I shall vote and work for him until he is nominated, or his name is withdrawn from the Convention.

Cordially yours,

J. HENRY GOEKE.

In the line with the trend of the times we are thinking of going on strike. We have had our salary raised to such a height that we have the owner of the paper working for us now and we sure do like to see him labor. We thought we have a grievance for a while when there was some question of the delivery of the bundle of salary we get, but that was settled when he put on an extra truck. He even provided a special vault for us to store our savings in at home. The only thing we can see to strike for is a shorter column and our aim in electric lights over the office building. So we are heroically serving notice of our intention.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

Why is it
That when you have
A Grouch
And want to drive a nail,
That you take the said nail
Firmly between thumb and
Forefinger,
And seizing a battered, wornout
hammer

You
Hit the nail on the head
As clean as a whistle
Or a hound's tooth,
Or whatever else is really clean,
And drive it into the plank,
And in the doing
You lose
Your Grouch.

And, on the other hand,
Why is it,
When the joy of life
Is bubbling thru your veins
And you want to drive a nail,
That you take said nail
Firmly between thumb and
Forefinger,
And seizing a smooth, well beveled
hammer,

You
Give it a flourish in the air
And drive it down on the nail,
And, instead of hitting the nail
on the head,
You smash your thumb,
And in place of the Joy of life
That bubbled thru your veins,
A Grouch advances and
From your lips there comes a
Stream of language
You never learned at Sunday school.

In the words of
C. Henry Frisch,
"Tain't right."

WHAT'D YOU HOLD, EDDIE?

Dear Roy—Here is another poker hand that may interest you:
After wild betting on the part of three players a call was finally made and A showed four aces, B showed the ace, king, joker, jack and ten of hearts, while C laid down the ace,

FATAL PRODIGALITY

In little bits she broke her heart,
And thoughtlessly, with lavish
hand,
To every youth she tossed a part
Thruout Columbia's boundless land.

But with the fleeting years there came
A man of means, good looks, unwed.

"To you I'll give my wealth, my name,
And heart—and ask but yours,"
he said.

The fragments of her heart, she tried
To find in wildest haste, poor
maid;
But tho she hunted far and wide,
The bits were lost—she could not trade.

—Walter Pulitzer.

HAVE YOU A LITTLE PEACH IN YOUR HOME?

A cold wave has just killed three fourths of the Georgia peach trees. Let's see, a cold wave killed nine tenths of them last year, and three quarters the year before. The supply of Georgia peaches is always large, however. Guess they raise 'em on grape vines or something.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is not a fortunate day, since most of the stars are unfriendly. France and Italy come under a sinister sign making for serious financial difficulties.

A sensational incident that will affect political plans will occur today.

Trade comes under a good augury while this rule continues. Persons whose birthday this is will have a fairly successful year. Children born today will be persevering and successful.

Are We to Have a Government by Strikers, or One by the People?

If Strikes Are Right, Then Let Us All Strike!

Has Anyone the Right to Dis-Employ, Starve and Freeze Great Multitudes in a Free Country?

(Editorial from Ford's International Weekly "The Dearborn Independent")

AT THIS writing the country is in another of those periods of anxiety and menace that have become so disastrously frequent of late. A comparatively small body of men engaged in one department of railway work are out on strike—unauthorized by their unions, it is said—with the result that a fuel and material shortage threatens the complete tie-up of industry, while food shortages imminently threaten the teeming populations of our cities.

This is not the place to weigh the right and wrong of the matter, except to say that if it were only the affair of the switchmen an early settlement could undoubtedly be reached. But it is more than a strike localized to one sphere of labor; it is in the nature of an economic rebellion. Coming as the culmination of a long series of threats, tie-ups, walkouts and disorders, all of which have caused and are still causing distress and loss, this present strike has in it more of a challenge to our constituted social and political order, more of a peril for certain fundamental human rights, than any which preceded it. It comes, too, at a moment when the public is almost in a state of mind to say, "If we must battle it out in this country between the orderly and disorderly ideas of progress, let us battle it out now!"

The men on strike are union men. The fact that they have acted without authority of their higher officers may or may not be significant. Whatever they are doing now they learned in the union. If it is not the old unions acting, it is a new union acting very much on old union principles. The idea most prominently represented in the action is that, somehow, the interest of the unions and the interests of the public are different.

One thing is certain: This constant interference with the processes of production and distribution cannot last forever; indeed, it cannot last very long. We are rapidly approaching the outer limits of our margin. All of these by-plays that have been staged have been supported on the small surplus which the country possessed; that surplus is rapidly disappearing. Even if the nation's better mind took control now, so much damage has already been done that it would take a considerable time to lift the people back to the security and sound prosperity which, with our natural resources and industry, we ought to be enjoying.

The folly of interference is, to speak plainly, rapidly plunging us into a condition comparable only with that which a long, hard war brings upon a people. The great delusion of the time is that there is plenty of money. But how much is our money worth? When it costs $3 in wages to produce living material that is only worth 50 cents to the user and for which he has to pay $4.50, what advantage is there in money? Money is only worth what it can purchase. If there is a lack of the commodities of life, mountains of money can never feed nor clothe nor warm us. The kind of panic or hard-times which we are forcing upon ourselves is not the old kind which used to be attributed to "over production," but a new kind which will be caused by "underproduction" and which will be marked by actual want, not of money, but of goods. And this kind of hard-times means wholesale starvation and every kind of hardship.

How long can we go on paying several times more to produce the thing than it is worth, and then paying several times more to purchase the thing than it is worth? Not very long. Not very much longer. The breaking point is very near. And when it comes, the collapse will be general and the recovery will be slow and painful. Any person with an ordinary mind can see this. Most people do see it, and all sense it.

Now if it is a matter of unionism testing its strength, let it be said that unionism has proved its destructive strength to the limit. It is readily conceded that a small body of determined and reckless men can destroy the economic life of the country—if that is any satisfaction to them. They can nullify the government. They can stop our national life and throw us perforce into a multitude of isolated communities having nothing in common but the horrors of unmitigated need. They can do it. And they are doing it now. More than anarchy, more than radical Socialism, more than wild-cat financiering, more than speculation, more even than I-W-W-ism and Bolshevism, the independent and frequently extemporized determination of groups of unionists to take advantage of the country's plight for their own advantage, has wrought immeasurably the greater amount of damage. If they desired to show the country what they can do, they have shown it amply. The common-sense question is, Now that they have done it, who is the better for it? No one, least of all themselves.

In a sense it is fortunate that the campaign against prosperity has been conducted as it has, because it has enabled the people of the United States, regardless of their class interests, not only to understand but to experience the very nature of it. Labor unionism stood very high in the estimation of the people two or three years ago. Perhaps the higher officers of labor would themselves admit that today unionism shows a sad decline in the public respect. Why? Because it has demonstrated its destructive power, at the same time indicating a complete bankruptcy of constructive ability. Strikes have been "settled," demands have been granted whether reasonable or unreasonable, wages have been increased beyond all dreams; everything that labor has proposed has been acceded to, and to what end? Merely a deeper plunge into the hopeless tangle of the game of trying to get something for nothing and pretending that money is wealth.

The time is rapidly approaching when the public itself will have to decide whether this country is to be permitted to disintegrate under the attacks of a few, or whether the two ideas are to be fought out now and here, once and forever. Is it to be the United States or Radicalism? Is it to be method or madness? Is the life of the nation to be in continual jeopardy at the hands of any one who thinks fit to jeopardize it?

If Union government is better than the United States Government, then by all means let us all go in for unionism. If strikes are right, then let us all strike and derive the benefit therefrom. This means nothing more nor less than a Soviet form of government where each class of employment pits itself against every other class of employment, and each trade or occupation becomes a little nation in itself, treating with other trades and occupations as foreign nations treat with each other. It is easy to see which would be the ruling soviet under this system. We have seen what a few switchmen can do to the United States. We have seen what a few coal miners can do to their millions of fellow workers in the industries of the United States. We have seen chaos, and we have had forstastes of a great people crumbling into a tangle of disorder which spells vast mental and physical suffering.

Sooner or later we shall have to settle which it is to be, whether we are to continue as the Free People of the United States of America, or whether we are to withdraw our allegiance to the life and security of our flag and our country and transfer it to certain occupational authorities set up in old or new union headquarters.

If it should occur that the strike which occasions this editorial is settled by the time these words reach print, it will not change the situation in the least. Another strike is another key-occupation may break out at any time for the same reason and for the same purpose—that is, if the industrial life holds up strongly enough to bear another blow in a vital spot. The lessons of the present strike are still valid for the country.

What a spectacle our country presents at this time! Here are great cities, great industrial centers, some of them containing over a million souls, with the food they eat and every bit of coal they burn, the clothing they wear, and every drop of milk they drink, and every gallon of gasoline they use—all brought to them from the outside. Starvation and utter helplessness are never many days away from a large city, not because its people are on short funds, but because a great city is always on short stocks depending on day-to-day transportation of supplies in return for that which they manufacture and produce. Cut the railway artery and the city's life immediately feels the shock. It is like a beleaguered garrison facing a long siege. All over this land today there are cities in that condition. Lack of fuel closes down shops and factories, lighting and street railway systems. Lack of gasoline makes city transfer work precariously uncertain. Let 200 switchmen strike, and 1,000,000 people feel it. The city reels beneath it. Hundreds of thousands of workmen with families are out of a job. Grocery and meat stocks immediately run short. It is a situation which one would think impossible in this boasted civilization of ours. Yet last year and this, it has threatened, yes, it has occurred, time and again.

Now, if the nation is to live as an economic unit, this state of affairs must be made impossible. No one has a right to disemploy, starve and freeze great multitudes in a free country—no right whatever, moral, political nor economic. Nor should any group of men have the right to withdraw themselves from the economic unit of production thereby crippling their fellow men, unless they are willing to forego the benefits of those commodities produced by men who remain at work. But if this right is assumed, and this state of affairs continues, then our economic unity is at an end. We might as well become walled cities again, each a little principality by itself, subject to all the vicissitudes which such a disjointed order brings with it.

There is only one question for us to solve. It isn't a question of wages. It isn't a question of working conditions. It isn't a question of profits. The time has gone by when these might have been important elements in the problem. The question for us to solve is this: How are we to get together to agree on the morally and economically right thing to do? Strikes will never do it. Neither walk-outs nor lockouts provide the remedy. These only wound the economic condition still more deeply. There is a right way to go about it, and that way is to take into consideration and apply the economic law involved, and then a pledged agreement of all parties to obey it. That is the sensible way. The other way is just to fight along and muddle along until all classes together fall in a heap at the bottom of the pit, whence we shall have to drag ourselves with many pains and laments and regrets for our folly. We are taking the course of folly now. There is no doubt whatever as to where we shall land if we continue to pursue it.

MY HUSBAND'S IDEAS

"I DON'T know exactly how you are going to find it out whether this letter tells the truth or a lie," answered John. "If you accused Elizabeth Moreland of writing this note she would promptly deny it."

"You are the one that is going to tell me if it is a lie or the truth, John."

We had reached the steps to the piazza as I asked this and he stopped quite still and looked at me curiously. I was not sure whether he was very angry or very much surprised.

"I don't see how you are going to find out the truth or whether this matter by me, Katherine," he at last said.

"I am just going to ask you a few questions and leave it to your honesty, John, to answer truthfully."

All right, go ahead," he said rather thickly, as he seated himself on the upper step "come and sit beside me. You look as if you were about to drop."

Drops into the hammock. I climbed the steps and stretched myself out in the hammock. I felt myself as tho I were about to drop.

"John, do you love me?" I asked. "Why, of course I do. What silly question."

"Do you think it is possible to love two women at the same time?"

"Perhaps," he answered, "possibly. But not in the same way," he hastened to add. "This is not what I had expected him to answer and I felt my heart beating so fast that I could hardly speak. Some way I had expected him to say no even if he said it in such a way that I knew he was untruthful."

"John, I can not be the wife of any man who loves some other woman. At least, not if I know it. You have intimated by your manner, your actions and your speech, that you at least have an infatuation for Elizabeth Moreland. Today you must choose between us. If you care for her in such a way that you feel you can not be happy unless you see her often; that when you have great fortune you must first tell it to her and that your thoughts dwell upon her, perhaps oftener than they do upon me, then, I want to say 'good-bye, John, we must part.'"

Elizabeth a She-Devil

"We will do nothing of the kind, Katherine," he answered. "I acknowledge that I am fond of Elizabeth Moreland. I know that she is a little she-devil. Perhaps that is why she fascinates me. Her utter selfishness and her apparent regard for me is both interesting and flattering, but I would never think of marrying her if she were the last woman in the world. Don't you know, my dear, that however much a man's fancy may wander, when it comes to a showdown, he usually accepts his wife and respectability. Of course I know that Bobbie Gaylord did not do this," he said as he saw I was about to speak. "In fact, there are enough men who give up wives for sweethearts to prove the rule. But I am going to be brutally frank and tell you that I believe no man lives much about anything except to be just your beautiful own little self." "Oh! John, John, I am so tired of these compliments," I said as I pulled away from him. Will not a man ever understand that he can not make a woman believe anything that he may say and that, while she feels that he is complimenting her simply to ease his mind, she is more than ever unhappy?"

You Throw a House Away Every 10 Years!

Did you ever think of the house you rent in that way? That the rent you pay to your landlord every ten years would buy you a home of your own?

Every ten years you throw away a home.—Why throw away another? You don't have to wait ten years to own one. You can start today.

Let us supply that home for you. Pay for it as you pay rent—a convenient payment each month on a home in a pleasant section where people live who have learned the real joy of living—the sensible, thrifty way of living.

$5800.00—New, six rooms, hardwood finish, bath and furnace. Full lot, 15 minute walk to court house. A real home. Marian Avenue.

$7000.00—Seven rooms, hardwood floors and oak finish down stairs, fire place, built in book case. Hardwood floors and white enamel finish upstairs, tile bath, finish attic. A real bargain. Woodlawn Avenue.

$4500.00—Seven rooms, bath and furnace, finished floors. House in excellent condition. West Wayne St.

$3500.00—Six rooms, modern except furnace, large lot, a dandy home. Reese Ave.
